In Brief

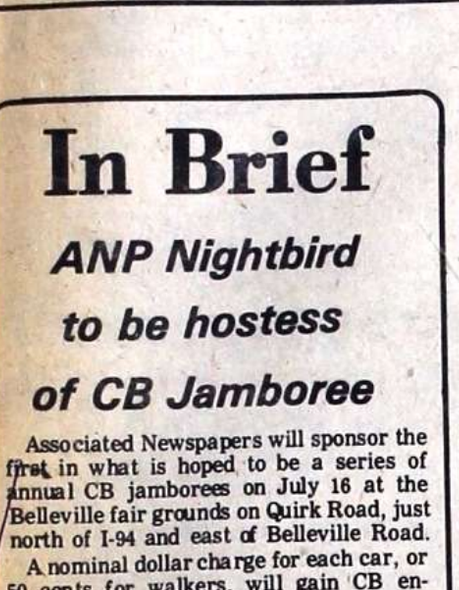
ANP Nightbird to be hostess of CB Jamboree

Associated Newspapers will sponsor the first in what is hoped to be a series of annual CB jamborees on July 16 at the Belleville fair grounds on Quirk Road, just north of I-94 and east of Belleville Road.

A nominal dollar charge for each car, or 50 cents for walkers, will gain CB enthusiasts and owners the opportunity to see the latest equipment and to exchange ideas on CB communication. Jamboree starts at 10 a.m. and continues until 10 p.m.

Nightbird, Associated's own CB columnist, will be on hand, in addition to dealers, manufacturers' reps, clowns, 18-wheelers, area celebrities, food and drinks and a door prize raffle.

For further information, call ANP at 729-4000 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.



Youngest skier in Belleville

Taking like a duck to water is cute little three-year-old Sonja Hoerig, the youngest water skier in Belleville's July 4th water show on Belleville Lake.

The water-loving tot comes from a long line of skiers in her family. Her grandfather, Herb Hoerig, is well-known around Belleville Lake and has been putting on water ski demonstrations and holiday performances as long as residents can remember.

Sonja is the daughter of Loraine Hoerig, 23, 40566 Alden, Belleville, who combined with her sister, Teri, 20, to perform with their father on the waves since their youth.

Teri first water skied when she was not quite three years old. Herbie, Jr., now 10 years old, first hit the water when he was two and one-half years old.

Little Sonja skied twice last year and has really been looking forward to this year's activity on the lake.

Sonja, like Teri and Herbie, also has her picture in the paper for her water skiing prowess.

Meet your candidates

Mark your calendar. Associated Newspapers in cooperation with 'We the people' of Romulus will host a "Meet Your Candidates Night" on July 28, 1977.

The program scheduled to be held at the Romulus High School, beginning at 5:30 p.m. with the candidates for the office of Treasurer and City Clerk, City Council and Mayor all being interviewed by a panel of interested citizens and members of the press. Program moderator Dennis G. Fassett, Managing Editor of the Associated Newspapers, welcomes all.

This is the opportunity for the interested citizens of Romulus to meet the candidates for public office in a truly non-partisian atmosphere.

Circle that date on your calendar. July 28, 1977 at 5:30 p.m.

Police called to settle dispute

City hall like a 3-ring circus as mayor, treasurer feud

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus' political three-ring circus was in action again Monday and, as usual, Mayor James C. Stewart and Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz were in the spotlight.

The two antagonists bumped heads again — as they have been doing with increasing frequency of late — this time over the hiring of a switchboard operator at city hall.

Stewart claims it is his right to hire or fire anyone for that position. Lewkowicz counters that the salary for the position has been in his department's budget the past four years, and not only that, but the switchboard operator's booth is a physical part of his "secured" treasurer's office.

This is about the fifth confrontation in the past month between Stewart and Lewkowicz, who is a strong supporter of Terry Troutt, and is running on the latter's slate against Stewart in the upcoming mayor's race in the fall.

On Monday the feud came to a head when Lewkowicz called the Wayne County Sheriffs Patrol to come and physically stop Stewart from walling up the side of the switchboard operator's room that enters the treasurer's office.

Television, radio and newspaper reporters picked up the call over police radio and soon Romulus City Hall was swarming with television cameras.

"The mayor came into my office this morning, using vulgarity and knocking over filing cabinets," Lewkowicz said Monday morning. "He was really abusive with his language. He had some maintenance men from the DPW department tearing out a wall and walling up the entrance to my office."

Actually, Stewart had the maintenance men working on the job Saturday morning but Lewkowicz walked in about 10 a.m. and ordered the men to leave the building.

Then on Monday, Lewkowicz physically barred the men from doing the renovation Stewart ordered. When the men continued working, Lewkowicz phoned the Sheriffs Patrol, which is on contract to Romulus as their law enforcement agency.

The two officers tried to mediate the dispute. In the meantime, news media had picked up the police call and had swarmed to the scene like ants to a picnic lunch.

Pat Geldmacher, Lewkowicz's secretary and no fan of Stewart's, verified that Stewart had rushed in Monday morning, using obcenities and "terrifying" the girls in the treasurer's office by his behaviour.

"He has the DPW workers ready to tear down the walls and has been acting very abusive," said Lewkowicz' secretary, who has worked for him almost four years.

"The mayor is also making accusations that we the treasurer's department are short of money. The treasurer's office went to the accounting department to verify an overdraft and found none," she pointed out.

She glanced at the men standing in the hall waiting to remodel the switchboard operator's office and said, "We have DPW men standing in the hall, wasting the taxpayers' money."

Then she added: "It's been rumored that Mr. Stewart would fire anyone who processed the employment papers of the new employee."

The new employee — and focal point of the discussion — is Renee Dembinski, the girl Lewkowicz hired about two weeks ago.

Stewart claims that there were two co-op workers available at city hall and that Lewkowicz was wasting taxpayers' money to go out and hire a new employee temporarily to fill in for the regular switchboard operator, Goldie Eaton, who is on a medical leave.

"There are two girls we have been training for about a year and a half at city hall, Lujuan Thomas of my office, and Lori Oldham of Clerk Leonard Folmar's office," the mayor said.

"It would be a waste of the taxpayers' money to overlook these two, who are well-trained, and go and hire a brand new person," he explained.

Miss Geldmacher countered by saying the treasurer's office did hire Miss Thomas in the first place but that Stewart had said she was too valuable doing work in his office to sit on the switchboard. "Then he did a turn-about and said he wanted her back on the switchboard," she said.

Stewart charged that a rash of complaints about poor phone service at city hall led to his action.

"Mr. Lewkowicz started giving the switchboard operator work to do in the treasurer's office when she wasn't answering the phone," he charged. "Then he gave her work with taxes and finally, he had her doing some filing — and she's not even supposed to be in his department!

"I've had many complaints about the bad phone service at city hall. My wife got cut off three times last week when she called city hall."

Lewkowicz and his secretary said $2,400 had been spent to "secure" the treasurer's office by installing bullet-proof glass, security buttons and other safety features. "Now he's tearing out the wall," Lewkowicz added.

Stewart countered by saying the security now would be better than ever. "Before, girls had to go in through the treasurer's office two or three times a day to relieve the switchboard operator for lunch and coffee breaks. Now, with the treasurer's office side walled up, the girls don't even have to go into the treasurer's office at all."

The mayor charged Lewkowicz with deliberately trying to stir up trouble in an election year. "I don't know what's gotten into the man," Stewart said.

In this corner...

Romulus Treasurer John Lewkowicz folds his arms in firm defiance at what he calls intrusion into his office by Mayor James Stewart. Stewart closed up the door from the switchboard operator's booth (behind Lewkowicz) into the treasurer's office and put one in that opens into the water and sewer department.

Cancel auto fleet insurance

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

If it's not one problem for the City of Romulus, it's another.

The city, which is continually in the midst of controversy of some kind, was delivered another blow.

The city had its fleet insurance cancelled which covers all city vehicles, except 11 privately driven city-owned cars. Citizen's Insurance Company of America, which had covered the city's vehicles, notified the city it was cancelling their fleet insurance policy as of 12:01 June 23. All other city insurance remained in effect, however.

However, arrangements were made to have the City of Romulus insured by having them take out a policy with Michigan Automobile Insurance Placement Facility, an assigned pool for high-risk drivers.

Reason given for the cancellation of the insurance was the "poor personal driving records of those who drive city vehicles, especially those who work in the Department of Public Works".

"Our company took an inventory last fall of the personal driving records of those who drive the city's trucks and found many had very poor driving records with their own cars," said a spokesman for Citizen's.

"It is a practice we're starting with all cities and individuals now that insurance costs are skyrocketing. We didn't just pick out Romulus, we are doing it with all of our clients," he said.

The insurance agent said Romulus definitely does have an insurance problem. He admitted that while many city employees had poor personal driving records, the vast majority worked in the DPW.

Clerk Leonard Folmar sent letters to 30 insurance companies when he learned the city's insurance was to be cancelled. However, he only received two responses and even those two companies would not provide fleet insurance, they said.

"I think we're finding it has become a very expensive thing to insure cities and other municipalities," the insurance spokesman said. "It's not just in Romulus, it's happening in many places.

"The fact that only two insurance companies even responded shows they're not that interested in bidding. And I'd guess they don't even know the driving records of the city employees," he explained.

The City of Romulus reportedly wanted to lay off those DPW employees whose poor driving records were endangering their insurance coverage. However, The Teamsters Union, which represents the DPW employees, allegedly threatened to take the city to court if they laid off the workers. The union's position stated the poor driving records were on their individual cars and not with the city trucks and vehicles they drove.

Water, sewer rates are adopted

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus City Council worked hard and long last week at two meetings to hammer out a compromise solution and adopt a water and sewer ordinance by the needed five votes.

After failing to accept the recommendations of the Henry and Jones Co. for the water and sewer department Tuesday night, council worked out a settlement in a five-hour meeting Thursday morning.

During the long Thursday morning and afternoon session which saw Beverly McAnally leave for lunch and Jimmie Raspberry vote no, Council members William Oakley, Junior Block, Robert Martin, Joan Lee and Gerry Canejo passed the ordinance about 2 p.m.

The compromise, which was worked out between those who disagreed whether to pay back money owed to the water and sewer department, sets aside 50 percent of the approximate $1.3 million total. However, it was stipulated that it could only be paid back by ordinance of the City Council, which takes five votes to pass.

A sewage disposal rate of $6.06 based on 70 percent of the metered water consumption for all sewered water accounts.

The water consumption rate shall be $4.25 per 1,000 cubic feet. Minimum quarterly water consumption charge shall be based on 1,000 cu. ft.

There shall be a water and sewer reserve escrow account, which shall be funded by the deposit of 40 cents from each 1,000 cubic feet of water accounts and 55 cents from each 1,000 cu. ft. of sewer accounts to expire five years from this date. (This would give a half-year amount of the annual funds needed.)

The funds accumulated in the water and sewer escrow account shall not be spent, transferred or otherwise distributed except by ordinance of the City Council.

There shall be a water and sewer loan repayment escrow account. The water and sewer repayment escrow account shall be funded by the deposit of 19 cents from each 1,000 cubic feet of water accounts; and 30 cents from each 1,000 cubic feet of sewer accounts to expire in 10 years.

The funds in the water and sewer loan repayment escrow account also can only be spent, transferred or distributed by council ordinance.

This represented the compromise between council members who wanted to pay back the entire $1,300,000 said to be owed to the water department and those who didn't want to pay back any of the amount.

However, the loan repayment fund may not, by law, be used for anything other than what it's designated for.

Five-hour session gets results

After a long five-hour meeting Thursday during the day, Romulus City Council adopted a new water and sewer ordinance based partially on the latest study conducted by Jones and Henry Engineers, Limited of Toledo. Because the mayor's budget was contingent upon the water rate, the ordinance was needed so the budget could be adopted. Shown above at the Council table are Jimmie Raspberry (from left), William Oakley, Mayor Pro-Tem Gerry Canejo, Beverly McAnally, Joan Lee and Junior Block, all council members, and Treasurer John Lewkowicz. At the table in front are Thelma Shivel, deputy clerk and Leonard Folmar, city clerk.

Urge amendment defeat

A press conference, called for by Gerald T. Harris, chairman of the Michigan Legislative Council Organization for the Handicapped, and several other state handicapped organizations last week, warned that if the House of Representatives passes amendments placed on House Bill 4108, they will be placing the state in violation of federal law.

Harris said: "When HB 4108 orginally was introduced, the handicapped people and the elderly citizens approved it. The bill at that time prohibited the use of motor fuel tax funds to purchase transit vehicles without wheelchair lifts, but an amendment was placed on it in the Senate and approved without any study as to what it could do to local authority uhder federal law."

"I strongly urge the Michigan House of Representatives to be sure they know just what they are voting for and what the outcome could be," Harris added.

The amendment on the proposed bill is in violation of the Department of Transportation, UMTA, Section 16 (a), which requires full service accessibility, that the elderly and the handicapped persons have the same right as other persons to utilize mass transportation they can effectively utilize and that all programs offering assistance in the field of mass transportation should contain provisions implementing this policy.

The amendment on HB 4108 means the possibility of the loss of federal funds to any community or transit authority who is receiving such money. The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 provides that no handicapped individual shall be denied the benefits of, or be subject to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal assistance, Harris said.

Melvin G. Eisengerg, president of the Michigan Paralyzed Veterans of America, said: "We are asking for an opportunity to obtain jobs and participate in society as equal members. We are asking that all new buses purchased be ordered with lifts and over a certain length of time the total fleet of buses would be accessible."

The Paralyzed Veterans oppose the amendment, as does the National Association of the Physically Handicapped, Barriers Frees and the Architectural Barriers Committee.

According to Harris, many handicapped people feel they were used by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA). In order for the authority to obtain funding from the government, as all transit authorities, by law they must have a steering committee made up of elderly and handicapped individuals, giving them the key to federal funding, he explained.

Walter Girard, who is the present transportation chairman for the National Association of the Physically Handicapped, at that time said "Quite frankly, we are tired of being manipulated in what is seemingly a never ending shuffle of papers. We strongly feel our efforts of this committee have been futile and part of a scheme of tokenism and delay."

"We strongly urge the Michigan House of Representatives to review the federal laws before they themselves violate it by passing and adopting the amendment to HB 4108." Harris said.

Cultural programs get $10,000 boost

Summer recreation and cultural programs for young people in twelve Wayne communities, funded through the Wayne Division of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit (UCS), have received a $10,000 boost from Communities United for Action (CUFA). The grant from CUFA supplements $32,120 in UCS funds made available to the out-Wayne area, bringing this year's total to $42,120.

The UCS Summer Program, now in its 11th year, is an annual project for which UCS receives special funds from United Foundation. Its purpose is to provide a host of constructive summertime activities for children and youth, with particular emphasis on low-income areas within the metropolitan area.

The Wayne programs are sponsored and operated by neighborhood groups, social agencies and community groups which have applied and been approved for funding by UCS' Wayne Division.

This summer 21 such organizations are involved in UCS' Summer Program aided by CUFA. They include: Brownstown, Glen Villa Super Teens; Dearborn, Arab Community Center; Ecorse, Summer Experience '77; Ecorse-River Rouge, Coalition for Youth Enrichment; Inkster, Children's Center for Social Change, Malcolm X Cultural Center, Parents and Youth Services, Boys Club of Inkster, Parent-Youth Communications, St. Clements Episcopal Church; Livonia, Rosedale Park Summer '77; Melvindale, Melvindale Extension Program; Plymouth, Growth Works Inc.; Romulus, Meadows-Applewood-Cinnamon Ridge, Oakbrooke Community Group, the American Progressive Association; Sumpter, Concerned Citizen Group, Sumpter Clothing Center; Taylor, Taylor Advisory Council; Wayne, Hickory Hollow Youth Club; and Westland, Norwayne Summer Fun.

Radio, TV celebrities to be on hand

ANP inaugurates CB Jamboree Saturday

All CB radio buffs are urged to get their "ears on" and hike out to Belleville Fair Grounds Saturday.

Associated Newspapers will sponsor the first in what is hoped will become a series of annual CB Jamborees from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. at the fair grounds, located on Quirk Rd., just north of I-94 and west of Belleville Rd. in Van Buren Township.

Nightbird, Associated's own CB columnist, will be on hand along with radio and TV personalities, clowns, manufacturers' representatives, 18-wheelers, area celebrities, food and drinks and a door prize raffle.

The non-profit jamboree will provide a forum for exchange of ideas on how CBers can improve enjoyment of their hobby. Latest equipment will be on exhibit in display booths.

Members of the State Police and Wayne County Sheriff Patrol will have their cars and equipment on hand to demonstrate. A name plate engraver will initial equipment for the owner's protection.

At least four 18-wheelers, and a motor home from Jack Demmer's will be at the fairgrounds.

Trophies will be handed out to the oldest CBers, the largest club in attendance and to the club which travelled the farthest distance.

One of the highlights will be when Associated's CB columnist, Nightbird, is flown in at 1 p.m. by helicopter. At 5 p.m.; television's Ghoul will make an appearance.

Many radio stations will have their disc jockeys on hand most of the day. Ypsilanti's WSDS and WDRQ will have mobile units on hand all day for remote broadcasts. WSDS Program Director Mike Lawrence and jockeys Tony Petta and Candi Roberts will appear. WDRQ will have continous broadcasting from the site and WDEE's Bob Hall, WMJC's Mike Rhodes and WNIC personalities will attend.

The musical group of Mickey Quattro and Rozz will provide entertainment during the jamboree. Other performing acts are also scheduled. There will be a dunk tank with the benefits going to the Easter Seal Society, Indian jewelery and patches for sale and a pie-eating contest for kids and adults.

In addition, there will be tickets sold for a raffle and a door prize.

This is the big one! Associated Newspapers hopes to begin a new tradition in this area with the sponsorship of its first annual CB Jamboree.

Associated Newspapers, publishers of six suburban weekly newspapers: The Belleville Enterprise, The Romulus Roman, The Westland Eagle, The Wayne Eagle, The Canton Eagle and the Inkster Ledger Star, hopes to bring to this area the number one CB Affair for CBers by CBers.

For further information, call 729-4000 between 9 am. and 5 p.m. and ask for Nightbird.

Thrill for a city boy

One of the most exciting days of the last school year for Gordonier Elementary School children was the visit by Farmer Webster and his animals from Upland Farms. Included in the animals brought to the school were goats, pigs, lambs and cows. In this interesting photo, ANP Photographer Lothar Konietzko captures Todd Hammons caressing a small calf.

Dental plan in new pact

All hourly employes at hospital get raise

Approximately 1,200 hourly employees working in the five hospitals of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) have negotiated a 5.25 percent wage increase, plus improved fringe benefits.

The board of directors of the PCHA approved the salary increase at its recent meeting. The agreement has also been ratified by the membership of Local 79, Service Employees International Union.

The new pay scales are retroactive to the April 7, 1977 pay period, and will be paid to the employees as soon as the necessary changes can be made on the payroll computers.

In addition to the wage increase, the employees will receive a dental plan benefit. Under the terms of this plan, employees and their dependents up to age 19 can receive up to $600 worth of dental care per year, per person on a 50-50 co-pay basis.

For PCHA employees who retired on or after April 1, 1977, the pension will be increased to provide a benefit of $8.50 per month, per year of service up to a maximum of 30 years. An additional 50 cents per month, per year of accredited service will be added to the pensions of PCHA employees who retired prior to April 1 of this year.

In other business, Walter S. Wheeler, administrator of the new PCHA Heritage Hospital in Taylor, reported that patients were being admitted to the hospital in the medical and pediatrics wings.

Wheeler said that the mental health service should be ready to accept patients in mid July, and surgery is expected to begin within a week.

The first patients were admitted to Heritage on Monday, June 20.

In addition to Heritage Hospital, PCHA also owns and operates the Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Beyer Memorial in Ypsilanti, Outer Drive in Lincoln Park, and Seaway in Trenton.

Rotary Club renews yearly BBQ dinner

The Romulus Rotary Club will hold a Barbeque Chicken Dinner from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. July 23 at Five Points Park, Goddard Road and Huron River Drive.

This is the 18th year for the barbeque, although it has not been held the past two years.

"We want to get it started up again and make it a real family time when friends can get together like they used to do," said Rotarian Doug Baum, who is helping to get the dinner going.

The cost of the dinners will be $2.50 each, according to Bob Mach, chairman of the event.

The dinner will consist of barbeque chicken, cole slaw, rolls and butter, potato chips, soft drinks and coffee.

Who says it isn't a woman's world?

Of nine employes promoted to first level supervisor last week by Micro-Measurements of Romulus, seven were women, a notable accomplishment, according to A. P. Renaud, personnel manager. Shown (from left) are: Alice Toomer, Lincoln Park; Fay Stoliker, Plymouth; Tom Duncan, Belleville; Wilma Kacso, Melvindale; Ann Kennedy, Belleville; Ardena Vaughn, Romulus; and Carolyn McCoy, Inkster. Barbar Schitter, Wayne, the seventh woman promoted, was on vacation when photo was taken. Shevach Saraf, Belleville, not shown, was elevated to assistant production manager. The firm is the world's largest manufacturer of precision strain gages and accessories.

Dedicate rest area near Rawsonville

Van Buren Township and Belleville elected officials recently helped state and county representatives dedicate a new combination freeway rest area and "info plaza" on Westbound I-94 near Rawsonville Road.

Representing Van Buren Township, the community in which the new rest area is located, were Treasurer Dorothy York and Trustee Floyd Thetford. Mayor Justin Emerson attended from Belleville.

Approximately 40 persons turned out for the dedication to hear State Highway Commission Chairman Peter B. Fletcher of Ypsilanti and State Rep. Gary Owen deliver short speeches.

The 20-acre landscaped facility is equipped with modern, heated restrooms, lighting, parking, telephones, outdoor cooking facilities and picnic tables. In addition, an information plaza, one of the first of its kind in Michigan, will provide travelers with assistance in locating area services and tourist attractions.

The new rest area replaces an inadequate facility located on westbound I-94 near Ypsilanti. Fletcher was master of ceremonies for the event. Also on hand were Gloria Crafton, Miss Michigan Transpo, George Anderson part-time mayor of Saline and an official at the Ford Motor Co.; and Tom O'Rourke, Mike Zolik and Charles Van Deusen, of the Wayne County Road Commission.

The Department of State Highways and Transportation maintains 67 freeway rest areas and 102 roadside parks throughout Michigan. An estimated 40 million persons use the roadside facilities each year.

Twin marks 80th date

Mrs. Nora Alberson of Romulus Sunday celebrated her 80th birthday, but she was not alone. A twin sister, Flora, who lives in Illinois, also is living and observed a like anniversary.

Mrs. Alberson's husband, John, is 90 and still does gardening. Not to be outdone, she still drives the family car.

Both Mrs. Alberson and her sister were born in Illinois.

Fourth victim of year

Inkster boy, 8, drowns in lake

Belleville Lake claimed its fourth victim of the summer when an 8-year-old boy drowned in deep water Sunday just off shore at Haggerty Road and I-94.

Ronald Lewis of Inkster went to play near the water's edge about 7 p.m., according to witnesses. The boy's mother, Mrs. Mamie Lewis, was reported seated in an automobile conversing with friends. She told deputies that she looked for her son but was not able to find him.

Witnesses told her they saw her son slip and fall into deep water just off shore. When rescue attempts by onlookers failed, divers from the Wayne County Sheriff's Dept. were called.

Police reported they found the body in 15 feet of water after a two-hour search. The boy was pronounced dead at 9:20 p.m.

Brick-bats and mud-slinging does not improve a city

With the coming of elections comes the silly season in many of the communities served by Associated Newspapers. But, few of the areas we serve can claim the Neanderthal politics practiced in the community of Romulus.

The political situation in Romulus, a throwback to the ward-healing Tammany Hall days of yore, promises to provide the residents of both Romulus and those communities surrounding, a humorous replay of the old-style, brick-bat, mud slinging campaigns, that fortunately, most other communities have long ago outgrown. Unfortunately, for the residents of Romulus though, is the fact that this situation cannot be at all humorous for them, the ones that will be forced to endure the spectacle.

Just into the month of July, already the candidates are slinging their mud, and woe be it for the innocent bystanders who happen to get into the line of fire.

Using the characteristic shotgun approach to solving their political problems, some of the Romulus candidates will fire away with little or no regard to who might be hit by their barrage of garbage. Calling in the television cameras so everyone can view their three-ring circus seems to be their idea of what it takes to get elected to serve the best interest of the public!

Characteristic of their 19th century view of the world, their motto will again be to shoot first and ask questions later.

We think the citizens of Romulus deserve more than that. Struggling to gain a position of prominance that the city justly deserves, the residents have too long had to lower their heads when forced to admit that their home was in Romulus.

It is time for the people of Romulus to stand up and demand responsible behavior from those who choose to seek their support. It is time for the citizens of Romulus to ask themselves if they have had enough of the ridiculous antics of some of their candidates for elective office.

Often in the past, it has been the citizens of the community that have taken a leadership role with their elected officials bringing up the rear. This is almost always the case when a community is unable to field responsible candidates for leadership positions.

This being the situation, it is up to the citizens to make sure that their candidates for public office represent the best qualified people who are available within the community.

The time has passed when it is necessary to support a candidate just because he claims to be of a certain political party, or because he is supported by a certain special interest group within the city. It is time, indeed it is well past time in Romulus, for the electors to support a candidate who promises to bring a measure of stability and dignity to the office that he seeks.

Voter of Romulus, the decision is in your hands.

You have the final say in who will sit in the seat of your elected city government.

Reward the mudslingers with your vote, and in the next election, you will again have mudslingers in the middle of the race. Reward the candidates that would mislead and you will certainly become misled.

Associated Newspapers feels that the citizens of Romulus have too long had to endure the childish and irrational behavior of some of their elected officials. They have held the community up to scorn for their own personal gain too long.

You will get just the calibre of elected official that you demand. To further the fortunes of Romulus you must demand the best, and then vote them come election day!

Bald Eagle Speaks

By BOB AMEEN

Prejudice wears many hats

Much press has been given in recent years, and righly so, by newspapers, television and radio to racial prejudice which exists in this country against members of the black race.

But, so much has been written and talked about in regard to the blacks that many Americans fail to realize the prejudice and discrimination displayed toward members of other minority groups.

As a first-generation American of Arab descent, I know firsthand what members of that group, mostly from the Middle East have and do go through. In Detroit, the Arab community, centered mainly in Dearborn, Highland Park and Hamtramck, number an estimated 110,000.

Partly because of language difficulties and partly because of lack of understanding of these peoples, they have extreme difficulty in obtaining employment and adequate housing.

Like their Semitic cousins, the Jews, Arabs and their culture are not too well known to many Americans. This appears on the surface to be an enigma, since the cradle of civilization arose in the Middle East thousands of years ago. But, un fortunately, that is the situation.

Only in recent years has prejudice against the Jews taken a downward turn. With the creation of Israel and our nation's close alliance with that new-born nation, the United States and some of its citizens have become increasingly aware of who Jews are, what they stand for, and what they believe in.

In the case of both Arabs and Jews, basic religious differences have proved to be a stumbling block. A majority of the world's Arabs are Moslem. However, more than half of the Arabs in the Detroit Metropolitan area are Christians who come primarily from Lebanon. In that country, Moslems and Christians are about evenly divided in number.

Actually, Moslems believe in a god, Allah, much like the Jehovah of the Old Testament. They also believe in Christ, but only as one in the line of Biblical prohets, with their main prophet being Mohammed, the last and the greatest of the line.

Islam, the name of the religion to which Moslems belong, differs mainly from Christianity in that its followers do not believe in Christ as the son of God. Also, they believe in a more materialistic Heaven as described in the Old Testament as a land flowing with milk and honey and with gold-lined streets.

Moslems, also called Mohammedans, have as their religious text, the Koran, which is very similar in content to the writings of the Old Testament.

Although Moslems are permitted under the Koran to have up to four wives, economical considerations of the 20th Century and Western influences now make that a rarity even in those countries where Islam has been dominant for hundreds of years.

Of all the Arabs that I have known and met in the United States, I do not know of one instance where a man had more than one wife. Thus, it is quite safe to say that in this regard, Arabs who come to our shores to make America their home, conform in most instances to our legal and Christian limit of one wife.

Arabs have one of the oldest cultures in the world. The country of Syria has as its capital, Damascus, reputed by many scholars to be the oldest known city in the world. At one time, Arabs had conquered much of the civilized portions of the globe, their influence extending into Africa, Spain and France. Much of the architecture in Spain and north Africa came from the Moors (Arabs) who occupied those lands and whose soldiers mixed with the native population.

At one time, Arabs were the world leaders in astronomy, mathematics, metallurgy, chemistry and other fields of academic learning. Christian armies who waged several crusades to wrest holy land from the Arabs in the 11th, 12th and 13th centuries returned to their native lands much richer in knowledge. Some historians attribute much of the Renaissance movement to what Crusaders brought back with them in their forays into Arab lands.

Damascus steel, used in the making of swords and other sharp-edged instruments, was the finest steel in the world. Its secret was lost down through the ages.

Probably the one think for which Arabs are most noted by much of the outside world is in the breeding and raising of horses. Their Arabian horses, small and compact, are acknowledged to be the finest horseflesh, pound for pound, in the world. Blood of the Arabian is a dominant ingredient in today's throughbreds and many other strains of horses.

Once understood, Arabs are really not much different from any other racial group which comes to America, is acclimated and undertakes to make their new-found home their adopted country.

On the brighter side

My wife, the real swinger

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Did you know my wife's a "real swinger"?

I didn't know either...that is, until last week when we went on vacation down in Missouri. It was during our trip to this small town of about 294 population that I found out.

But I should have known before. We had a teenage baby-sitter about 10 years ago who said to my wife, out of a clear blue sky, "I like you — you're a real swinger." Don't ask me why she said it. I don't know and neither did my wife...

I gave it no further thought... She's not the "swinging" type, I figured. But I was wrong. Last week, Pansy made sure I took my golf clubs on our vacation to this small out-of-the-way place in a secluded section of Missouri. Now there's nothing unusual about that ...except, this time she asked demurely, "Will you teach me to play golf when you go?"

When she wanted to learn to drive an automobile years a go, she asked me to teach her. And I did. Now she wanted me to teach her how to drive again. (She also wanted me to teach her how to putt).

But I'm not the most patient soul around, so I wondered if I could meet the challenge. My thoughts drifted back to when she wanted me to teach her how to drive and I at first rebelled. I was so much against it, I even wrote a poem on the spur of the moment.

It read:

My wife wants to learn to drive,
But I would rather stay alive;
So tell her this at my insistence,
She had better keep her distance.

I remembered, with my anguish, how I had told my uncle Hiram that my wife had backed the car out of the garage.

"What's wrong with that?" Uncle Hiram demanded.

"Because I backed it in," I replied.

I won't say my wife was a poor driver when she began, but I came home one day and found she had driven the car into the kitchen. "How in the world did you ever drive the car into the kitchen?" I asked in amazement.

"Simple," she responded. "I made a left turn when I reached the living room!"

But I digress...

She wanted to learn to drive again. Only this time it was a golf ball. So we packed the bag of clubs into the trunk of the car and headed for the golf course in Mountain Grove. With my wife and I golfing together, it was so romantic. I even felt like singing, TEE for two...

I thought it would be an all-day job just finishing the first hole, but she proved more adept than I calculated. She was, indeed, a "real swinger". She slugged the new golf ball down the middle of the fairway while I wandered over cow pastures, through wooded jungles and across soggy creeks in search of my Wilson K-28 Plus. (When my strokes mounted, I knew what the PLUS stood for).

As we walked off the third green, a middle-aged man in a floppy hat and walking shorts, exposing knobby knees and chicken-white legs, ambled up. "I'll bet you can't guess what I lost?" he challenged me.

"A golf ball?" I asked, trying to look intelligent.

"No," he answered in an embarrassed tone. "My partial plate. I was carrying it in my pocket last night and I lost it somewhere on the course."

My wife, who was still pounding worms on the head in an effort to hit the ball, finally arrived at the green. In a matter of moments, she spotted the "bridge" (which was not over troubled waters) and returned it to the jubilant, if somewhat toothless, owner of the teeth.

A little later, my wife and I sat on the porch of the clubhouse drinking a cold Dr. Pepper in the 90-degree heat. The man with the knobby knees passed the porch and waved a cheerful goodbye. He called to my wife, "Thanks for finding my you-know-what!"

Several people on the porch looked up when he said the last words — "you-know-what". A tousled-haired youngster asked what he meant by "you-know-what" — and the man had to explain his plight.

Yes, it's really surprising how much excitement you can have in a small Missouri town when a middle-aged man loses his dentures somewhere on a golf course.

Especially if your wife's a "real swinger."

Health beat

Clean up the act is her charge

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

There is a special room located immediately adjacent to the Annapolis Hospital Pharmacy, and just a few steps from the recovery and operating rooms. It's filled with strange looking, space-age instrumentation, and all the personnel working here just wear green operating room scrub uniforms and hats.

It's called the Central Supply Room (CSR), and it's an area vital to the effective operation of the hospital.

Lorrane Zabkiewicz (known around Annapolis as Mrs. Zab), LPN, is the Manager of this service, and she told us that the CSR now employs seven people in addition to herself and it operates from 7:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

"Let me explain," said Mrs. Zab, "that there have been those times — just yesterday in fact — when it's necessary for some one to come in late at night or very early in the morning."

To understand the reason for those extended hours, you have to understand the function of the CSR.

Mrs. Zab said that the principal function of the CSR was to provide sterilization services for all departments in the hospital.

Included in these departments is the operating room. Specific surgical procedures demand that a specific surgical package of instruments be sterilized and ready for use in the following day's surgical schedule.

However, there are those times when an emergency occurs late at night, and a pack which has been prepared for the next day must be used at night — hence, the call must go out, and a CSR specialist must come in a sterlize a new set of instruments.

The sterilization is accomplished in several ways. First, at one end of the CSR area there are four large doors which have mounted on them big wheels which remind one of the type of door arrangement one would see on a submarine.

Mounted over these doors are dials, buttons, gages, and related electronic control systems which are monitored by the CSR personnel.

These units are known as autoclaves. When the wheel is turned and the large door opened on an autoclave, an entire cart loaded with different surgical packs is pushed in where it is subjected to steam for a period of 35 minutes — thus rendering the contents of the packs totally sterile.

The sterile packs are removed from the autoclave and placed in the ready area for the following day's surgery.

The fourth sterilizer is operated with etheline oxide gas, and is used to sterilize those items which can not tolerate the intense heat generated by the steam-sterilizing autoclave.

In a separate room, just next to two giant containers of sterile water (which is also the responsibility of the CSR) is an ultrasonic cleaner.

This device looks much like a stainless steel sink you might have in your kitchen, except it is somewhat smaller. After this unit is filled with water, the operator starts an ultrasonic unit which sends pluses through the water at very high frequencies. The action of the pulsations cleans and sterilizes the instruments. (We've been told that on occassion some have used this device to clean a ring or bracelet, but were unable to get confirmation on the rumor!)

Mrs. Zab, who is a graduate of the Ann Arbor School of Licensed Practical Nursing, is a native of Detroit, and a graduate of Flint (Michigan) Bendle High School.

She has been at Annapolis since 1968, and has been manager of the CSR service since 1971. Prior to taking the manager's job in the CSR, she was a bedside nurse on the medical-surgical unit.

When asked how she moved into the CSR service from bedside nursing, she responded with a grin and said, "In 1971, the Director of Nursing at Annapolis Hospital asked me if I'd sit in as temporary supervisor for just three weeks as a special favor. I said I would, and that three-week temporary assignment has lasted for better than six years."

She said the experience has been rewarding, although, she said there was a curious thing about working in the CSR. "Everything we do in our service is directed toward the patients, but we never see the patients in a face-to-face situation."

In addition to sterilizing surgical instruments, the CSR personnel also sterilize equipment used by the respiratory therapists, emergency room equipment, and have just recently began to assist in the labor and delivery room which had previously done all their own work in this area.

The CSR personnel also are responsible for sterilizing the operating room gowns worn by all personnel in any proximity to the patient on the operating table.

The hats, boots, and masks worn in the operating room are disposable, and hence not reclaimed by CSR.

Mrs. Zab said that all procedure trays, liver biopsy instruments, bone marrow equipment, equipment used to do arteriograms, and equipent used in certain X-ray procedures also are sterilized by the CSR.

"We are busy," she concluded, "and we are proud of the outstanding record established at Annapolis Hospital in the very sensitive area of infection control.

"After all, my people are dedicated to their tasks."

Bills of interest from the legislature

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

It was a busy time in the legislature as it moved toward its summer recess. This will summarize some of the activities of interest.

The House approved and sent to the Senate a revised public health code. Several years of work have gone into the new code, which is a massive collection and revision of public health laws.

State laws relating to public health have been written and updated on a piecemeal basis for many years. As a result, the State's attempts to effectively protect and improve the public health have often been hindered by inefficiency, inconsistency and difficulties in state-local relations.

In an attempt to solve these problems, it was felt that we should systematically revise the public health statutes and draw them together into one uniform code. By doing so, the responsibilities for providing adequate protection to public health can be clearly and rationally assigned, fair and consistent treatment achieved for all health care providers, and the general health of the public improved.

Extensive studies were conducted by a special task force which reported its findings and recommendations to the legislature last year. There followed further committee work and most recently, approval of the proposed new code on the house floor.

The house had approved the code in November of last year, but because of certain unresolved problems and a lack of time before the end of the 1976 session, the Senate was unable to act on it. The legislation had to be reintroduced in the new session.

The new code is considered a major step forward in providing basic health care services for the people of Michigan. It establishes a system for determining which health services are needed and for funding those services.

Included in the code are a requirement that the Department of Public Health develop an annual plan for health services; provisions for reporting and surveillance of diseases; reimbursement to local health departments for state required services; creation of an agency on environmental health; creation of a health occupations council to coordinate licensing activites; a requirement that treatment of communicable diseases be the primary responsibility of counties, with some state reimbursement; provisions for the treatment of persons under the influence of alcohol; creating of an advisory commission on the licensing and certification of health facilities, and new provisions to cover Chiropractor, Dental Hygienists and Optomotrists.

The code would restructure state-local relations with respect to the providing and funding of public health services. Local units would be given sufficient independence to serve the particular needs of local people, while enabling the State to ensure that, one a state-wide basis, the health needs of Michigan residents are being met.

The funding of services provided by local units would be revised, with an extensive cost-sharing program which would be phased in over four years.

Both the House and Senate have approved a bill which would provide for summer jos for about 3,000 youths. The legislation appropriates $5 million for a 10-week summer job program for youths 15 to 21 years old.

The money goes to the Department of Natural Resources, which will pass it on to local governments and regional parks for conservation-related projects.

Sent to the Governor was a bill which clarifies the right of telephone companies to provide employees and retired employees with phone service at a discount or no cost. The legislation revokes a Michigan Public Service Commission ruling on this type of benefit for employees and pensions. The PSC allowed only half discounts for employees.

Many telephone companies have offered the discounted or free service for years as a fringe benefit for employees and retirees, though not negotiating it in employee contracts.

Legislation providing for "protective custody" for persons incapacitated by alcohol and to reestablish as a crime drunk and disorderly conduct has been approved by the house and sent to the senate.

One of two bills in the package permits police to pick up and detain in a treatment center persons incapacitated by drink. This would apply only to severely incapacitated persons, such as those who are unconscious or who might cause harm to themselves or others.

When picked up by police, they would be transported to a treatment center where, after being diagnosed as being incapacitated, they could be kept in protective custody for up to 72 hours. Counties without treatment centers were effectively exempted from the requirements through a provision permitting detention for up to eight hours without a diagnosis

The second bill restablishes the crime of drunk and disorderly. The two bills change somewhat the thrust of a law which goes into effect next October 1. That law decriminalizes public intoxication of any sort and requires treatment for four classes of inebriated persons.

Also sent to the Senate was a long series of bills necessary to bring various state and local boards, commissions, councils and committees under the State's new open meetings act. That law requires that, with only a few specified exceptions, meeting of any state or local elective or appointive body which performs governmental functions be fully open to the public.

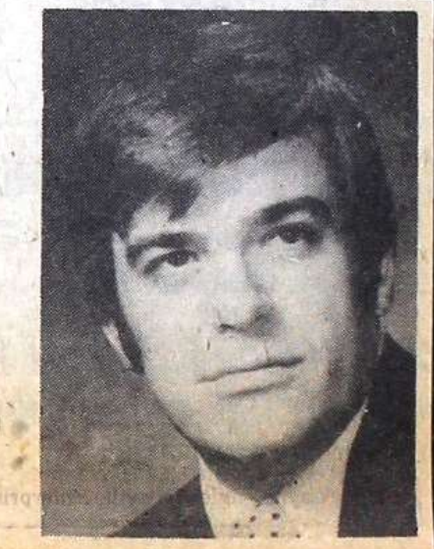
Environmental quality, and 'Wet-Lands Act'



By GARY OWEN
State Representative–22nd District

The quality of our environment is a subject which has generated much interest in the past several years as people have become increasingly concerned over dwindling resources, endangered species and a gradual deterioration of wilderness areas.

Originally the concern over our environment stemmed mainly from "environmentalist" who, for a variety of reasons, were loathe to stand by passively as our natural resources were depleted. Interestingly enough, the "environmental league" is gradually being joined by another group of serious persons who, for different reasons, are beginning to understand that the quality of our environment in some cases has a direct impact on the economic value of our resources.

In March, 1977 Representative Warren Goemaere introduced the Wetland Protection Bill which would regulate the use, management and protection of Michigan's wetland areas.

The bill has attracted interest among environmentalists, sportsmen and land developers alike. Part of the interest stems from the fact that Michigan's wetlands are important for more than just scenic reasons.

The effective use of wetlands is important fort the continuation of sport fishing and for the very practical purpose of flood control.

Bogs, rivers and streams provide natural drainage areas which, if not used properly, could contribute to flooding and serious damage in urban and agricultural areas.

Marshes, which are the breeding grounds for a variety of marine creatures and insects, are an essential ingredient in the food chain which supports high forms of wildlife; such as fish, birds and many large mammals.

However, the bill has its opponents as well as its supporters. Some persons are basically opposed to the concept of regulating privately owned land; and feel very strongly that, as long as the land is their own, they should retain the right to use its as they deem most feasible.

The argument is a strong one, and objections to state regulation of privately owned land are serious enough that the bill has not yet been reported out of the House Conservation Committee in spite of the fact that it has received strong leadership support from the Legislature and the Executive office.

Under the measure, persons owning land which qualifies under the definition of wetlands would have to apply to the Department of Natural Resources for a permit in order to build a dock or park, construct pipelines, power generating stations, wells, diverting water flow. The funds from the $25 permits would then be used for the administration of the act.

The central question on this bill, and the one which separates its supporters from its opponents, revolves around whether the benefits of protecting our wetlands outweigh the disadvantages of regulating privately owned land.

Some feel that wetland protection is necessary for the preservation of our resources and a healthy environmental climate for all persons. Others feel that an individual's right to maintain and use their land as they see fit is as basic to the American way of life as the freedom of speech.

At this point the bill is still changing form and shape with every new committee meeting as amendments are added and new ideas are discussed. Hopefully the committee will be able to arrive at a compromise which is acceptable to all involved parties.

In any event, if the bill passes the House it will certainly be faced with a tough battle in the Senate.

If you have any questions, or if you are interested in further information, please don't hesitate to contact my office.

Let's return to natural materials

Editor:

It would be interesting if a survey was to be made to find out how much of our oil resources could be saved by going back to natural materials for shoes, clothes etc.

Wool for suits, also linen, cotton for shirts and related items, silk is far nicer than any synthetic. Leather for shoes and jackets, go back to real furs a renewable resource, and all of these things can be recycled where as synthetics in many cases cannot be recycled and in most cases are not, this adds to the already bad pollution problem.

So when you see a sticker on a car which says, "I wear fake furs" you are watching an energy waster and eventual polluter.

Don't be misled by the bleeding hearts who would abolish trapping, they just don't know what they are talking about along with their phony pictures of so called cruelty of the leg hold trap.

Voters must be informed

To the Editor:

As an election worker in Romulus, I can't begin to tell you how frustrating it is to hear people coming to the polls to vote, and saying "I hate to vote for any of these people running for office because I don't know any of them or how they feel about certain issues".

Be it a city, school, or even a national election, people complain about not knowing how to vote because they don't bother to read up on the candidates running for office. Or if a meet the Candidates night is set up for them to listen, and ask questions they don't attend.

The old saying "If you don't get out and exercise your right to vote, you have no right to gripe." I believe this is very true, at the same time if you are invited to a meet the candidate night then GO!!! or don't gripe when it's time to vote and you aren't sure about the people running for office.

The "WE THE PEOPLE" organization is just as it reads, for the people of Romulus, who want to be informed as to what's going on and if there is an election coming up, who the candidates are and how they feel about certain issues that are very important to the citizens of Romulus.

So attend our meetings it doesn't cost anything, the only time you'll pay a price is when you go to the polls to vote only to be VOTING BLIND. Just to be able to say well, I've done my job and I voted, knowing very well you were not informed and that you HOPE you voted for the right candidate that will do the job he has promised he would do if elected.

These people will be running OUR CITY OF ROMULUS or our School Board or in some elections, our Country. We "THE PEOPLE" feel that it is a risky way of saying I do care but!, not enough to be informed. So infact "WE THE PEOPLE" say you don't care!

If you don't agree, see you at our MEET THE CANDIDATES NIGHT IN JULY. Date to be announced in the Romulus Roman.

Chamber thanks those who helped

To the editor:

The Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce extends a hearty thank you to all who participated in our 4th of July celebration.

Sincere appreciation to the Belleville Lake Water Ski Club for their entertaining program preceding the fireworks and a special thank you to the Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees who handled the actual shooting and launching of the fireworks.

To all of the area businessmen and citizens who made monetary contributions for the fireworks we are grateful.

There are many people to thank: The city of Belleville, Van Buren and to the Belleville Band Boosters and Bethany Baptist Church Choral Group which added to the festivities. The Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, the Wayne County Marine Sheriffs, Don Bluhm — our announcer for the 8th year, St. Anthony's Church for the extra P.A. system, the Belleville Enterprise and Ypsi Press for the news coverage, and Ted Hooten who made room for us to announce the show.

A few weeks ago the fireworks show looked like a disaster but with the help of all the above mentioned people and our generous businessmen, managed to pull it off.

The Roman presents both sides

To the Editor:

It is good that Romulus has a newspaper that finally presents both sides of a news story. I congratulate you, and only hope that my opposing view will be granted equal space and position in your paper.

I will first establish what I feel are my qualifications to write a rebuttal to Jim Bradley's column of June 8, entitled, "Where are we headed?" I have a Bachelor of Science Degree in Businss Administration. In order to obtain such a degree, one must take a year of behavioral psychology. This course helps to better understand why people act the way they do and how you can expect them to react to certain stimuli in a given environment.

Jim Bradley is a fine man and I don't doubt for a second that his faith in God matches mine, or that his intentions are well meant. I do feel, however, that he has presented a one-sided view that seriously cramps an otherwise good Christian attitude of love, brother hood, and understanding for his fellow man.

He said, 'Sexual perverts are calling themselves "gay" and demanding "civil rights" to push their perversion. In reality, they're not "gay" they're sad. and sick, and in need of help.'

Jim has failed to see that our Constitution prohibits discrimination. It wasn't too long ago that a lot of people felt that a Woman's place was in the kitchen, and that she didn't deserve the right to vote, or equal pay for equal work. Likewise, they felt that Blacks were not really human and that they shouldn't be allowed to vote, sit in the front seat of a bus, or eat in the same place as a White person.

We've come a long way since then, and women haven't destroyed the United States because they were allowed out of the kitchen, and blacks haven't taken over and killed the white folk because they were allowed to vote.

Gays aren't asking for anything more than what women and blacks have received already. They are not waiting in prey to "push their perversion." They are asking to be allowed to live otherwise "normal" lives as society dictates, which entails holding jobs of their choice, living in any neighborhood they wish, and being left alone without repression. The only thing they ask is not to be discriminated against.

It is surprising how many other people, besides Jim Bradley, support Anita Bryant. If you research Anita's backlog of information, you might be surprised at how many facts she retrieved out of pornographic magazines. At any other point in life she wouldn't have even touched such publications, nor would she have belived what she read. But, to get her point across, she quoted from these "reliable" sources, and took out of context several verses in the Bible to get her point across.

If Jim Bradley, or Anita Bryant for that much, had taken any classes in psychology he would understand that homosexuals, or Gays, are victims of their environments.

When you research the background of homosexuals you'll find that most of them are victims of broken homes, alcoholic fathers or mothers, child beating, etc.

They grew up without a mother or father image whereby to model their lives. Most gay people wouldn't be gay if they had their choice. They are victims of a ruthless society.

Jim and Anita indicate that homosexuals are gay by choice and can become heterosexual if they so choose. Does it make sense that an individual would choose a lifestyle that subjects him-her to ridicule, discrimination, and heartbreak?

According to Norman Dorsen, professor of law at New York University, and chairman of the board of the American Civil Liberties Union. "The gay community is entitled to all the legal protection that other unpopular minorities enjoy. There is no reason to believe that the fair treatment of gays will in any way impair the essential family unit. Besides, legal rights should not depend on a majority approval of individual life-styles." (Newsweek. June 6, 1977.)

The answer is clear: we stop subjecting our children to child raising practices that have been accepted more and more each year. These are: 1) alcoholic mother or father images; 2) dominant mother-son, father-daughter relationships; 3) child beating; 4) incestual rapes; 5) a lack of religious education; 6) etc. You cannot cure homosexuality. You can only prevent it.

In the meantime, do I hear a call for love and understanding of our fellow man? John 13:34, 35 — Jesus said, "A new commandment I give you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another."

Band Boosters thank supporters

Many thanks to all of our band friends who came to the Fourth of July Chicken Barbecue.

Many thanks, also, to the Belleville merchants; church groups, City of Belleville; and Township of Van Buren officials for the kindnesses extended which helped make the day a success.

I would especially like to thank the Belleville Band members and their families and friends who participated and who gave up other plans for the holiday in order to help us realize our goal.

I would like to especially thank all the committee members who planned and carried out the labors of the day.

It was enjoyable to work with all of you.

Ruth Ross, Chairperson

This letter is addressed to the following:

Ruth and Duane Ross, Arloa and Ken Jennings, LaDonna and Dutch Bauer, Stan and Barb Kemp, Maxine and Russ Jackson, Elaine and Cliff Cooke, Lucille and Frank Reinhackel, Dennis Miller and Richard Carey who initiated, organized and followed through on the Band Booster Barbeque for July 4th.

To the Belleville High School band members for hours of work before, during and after...to Band Parents for time, contributions work before, during and after ... the Band Parents for time, contributions and patience, my personal thank you for a job well done.

I wish to extend sincere appreciation to Mr. Frank Rizzo of Foodville, to Don and Carol's, The Belleville Police Dept., Chamber of Commerce, Belleville Enterprise, Ypsilanti Press, Clark Block and Supply, the many businesses of Belleville, to the PEOPLE of Belleville, Van Buren Township, Sumpter and Ypsilanti for your response, warmth and your receptiveness.'

Thank you for showing concern in our attempt to assist the music students with scholarship funds. We are very grateful.

WCCC works on energy

Wayne County Community College (WCCC) is one of 10 southeast Michigan community colleges which, in coop,eration with the Environmental Research Institute of Michigan (ERIM), is initiating an energy conservation technical assistance program (SEMTAP) for small businesses to help them acquire skills and trained manpower for the new energy conservation service industry that will emerge from President Carter's energy program.

The SEMTAP program, which begins full-scale operations this fall at Wayne County Community College, includes a series of introductory 1-day seminars, followup mini-courses, and a continuing technical assistance program. It is designed for architects, building contractors, energy consultants, heating and cooling contractors, insulation contractors and other energy-related firms to implement a nation-wide program for conserving energy in homes, businesses, industrial plants and state and local government buildings. In addition to providing home and building insulation technical assistance, the program is planned to develop, install and maintain alternative heat sources such as solar energy.

Business opportunities in these fields include solar heating and cooling service, insulation services and inspection of insulation requirements and efficiency through the use of infrared diagnostic instrumentation.

The fall energy conservation technical assistance program at WCCC includes three seminars. The first seminar, which covers the installation, maintenance and operation of solar heating and cooling systems, will be held in October. Part 2, which treats analysis and design of these systems, will be held in November. Part 3 covers infrared diagnostics for energy conservation and will be held in December.

The 10 SEMTAP community college program participants, including WCCC, are Henry Ford, Highland Park, Jackson, Macomb County, Monroe County, Charles Stewart Mott, Schoolcraft, St. Clair and Washtenaw.

According to Dr. Reginald Wilson, president of Wayne County Community College: "The upcoming energy conservation programs sponsored by SEMTAP at WCCC reflect the call for technical services and a broader community awareness made recently by President Carter.

"Our institution, throughout its extensive service area, will seek to both articulate the energy needs of our nation, state and community, and to answer those needs through educational training within the new industries developed to deal with the problems of industrial firms, commercial establishments and homeowners."

Technical support for the SEMTAP Program is being provided by ERIM, the Ann Arbor-based Environmental Research Institute of Michigan—formerly the University of Michigan Willow Run Laboratories, the staff of which rank as world leaders in infrared technology. Funds for the organizational work and technical direction of the SEMTAP Program are supplied by a grant to ERIM by the Economic Development Administration.

William Brown, president of ERIM, who fostered the idea of community college involvement in a technical information dissemination program in the field of energy conservation, said: "The SEMTAP program can serve as a model throughout the nation to help all segments of the economy face up to the challenges posed by President Carter."

"Fortunately, there is adequate infrared technology available today to enable an airplane to fly over a city in the winter and tell which buildings are thermally efficient. Without this information, it is doubtful that any thermal energy conservation program could predict the buildings to work on and the resulting achievements."

Later parts of the program will offer energy conservation information for homeowners, school and government administrators.

Karen Nichols, the daughter of Fred and Margery Nichols of Van Horn, New Boston, prepares for a fencing match at Eastern Michigan University. Fencing is one of many co-educational activity courses offered at Eastern. A senior at Eastern, she is majoring in history.

Earns vet degree

John Edward Branam of Belleville has earned a doctor of veterinary medicine (DVM) degree from Michigan State University.

He was one of 89 veterinary students to receive the degree during MSU's morning commencement exercises on campus June 11. Hooding ceremonies for the new veterinary graduates took place that afternoon at the sanctuary of the People's Church in East Lansing.

Branam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Phil Branam of Fisher, Belleville.

"His veterinary skills should be a valuable asset to any community in which he practices and to the American public," said John Welser, dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine. "Without veterinarians, much of the world food supply would be jeopardized. Infectious diseases transmissible between animals and man would be out of control.

"As for companion animals, besides befriending and protecting man, they are vital to the mental health of many people — especially those handicapped in coping with the stresses of a complex society. Health care of pets lies with the veterinarian."

FCC good at catching violators

One of the most common remarks I hear come from a lot of CBers these days is "who cares if I run power or abuse the channel, who's going to catch me?" Unfortunately, there are a lot of people out there who have a misconception of what the FCC is all about. They may have the feeling that it can't happen to them, but then so did all the others who got caught.

By JANICE PLESIEWICZ
Nightbird KNN 5032

It's true that since the CB craze has spread so quickly that the enforcement of the rules and regulations has been strained beyond it's limits, but don't kid yourself by thinking that you can't ever be caught, because you can.

I'm sad to report that I can listen to Channel 19 all day long and be able to count on my fingers the amount of people that use their call sign. It states in the rules and regulations that you must identify your station with your given call sign, but yet it rarely happens.

Certainly it's a fact that if you just happen to get carried away one day and say something you normally wouldn't over the radio your chances are next to nothing of being caught, but what I'm talking about are the persistant violators. The people out there who seem to really get some sort of enjoyment out of tearing up a channel.

There presently are four or five FCC enforcement officers working in a district. They are using some pretty sophisticated direction finding equipment which enables them to find the linears, above maximum antennas and the channel abusers.

The special enforcement, or strike teams, are fairly new. These teams work out of mobiles, undercover, without letting anyone know of their presence. I really get a laugh when I get a phone call telling me to unhook my linear because the FCC is in the area.

No. 1, I don't use a linear so I'm not worried about it, and No. 2 if the FCC was in the area as many times as I have been told that they were they might just as well set up a permanent residence.

The strike teams usually are sent out after numerous complaints have been received regarding a certain individual or area in question, not because they feel like cruising around for the day. They are, in fact, able to pinpoint the station in question whether it be a mobile or a base, and from what I have been told, if they find you operating illegally on a base, they will not be too careful about dismantling your equipment.

I have heard stories of radios just being dropped on sidewalks, and antennas being pushed off of roofs.

True, you ask? Maybe so, maybe not, but I know I wouldn't want to be the one to find out. My equipment means a little more to me than five minutes of air time trying to get someone mad that I don't even know. I'm sure if it's true there are a few people out there who have been well deserving of what they got.

Violations usually run around $50 for a first warning, but I recently talked to a man from Detroit who has a friend that was recently visited by the FCC for using obscene language over the radio. His fine was far higher than the $50 I just mentioned, plus he lost all of his equipment and his license to operate. I'll bet he was one of the people who thought the FCC was all mouth and no ears.

These strike teams usually visit one city per month and obviously they are getting their jobs done, but not at a rate fast enough to clean up the channels. Hopefully in the future the FCC will be able to beef-up their enforcement procedures and put a little fear into the aggitators once and for all.

We took a ride on Channel 5 this week. The Barn Owl Mama sure tried awfully hard to talk some of that skip to Mississippi. Too bad you couldn't make the trip guy. No one else could make it across the street with you yelling your head off out there. With the noise level you had, you would have been better off writing a letter — 10-4? It's a lot cheaper and you stand a better chance of getting an answer.

Any special events coming up or coffee breaks? Let's hear from you.

Standard Federal Savings, GROWING... thanks to our people...helping people!

To Our Customers and Friends:

Standard Federal Savings experienced outstanding growth during the first six months of 1977. Assets increased by $201,803,948 to a new record high of $1,970,808,744. Savings accounts increased by $165,224,795 and we now hold $1,799,334,556 in 328,350 savings accounts. Both assets and savings increased by record amounts for any six month period in our history.

Mortgage loans were granted for $172,424,472. We are very pleased to have helped so many families achieve home ownership. Our mortgage loan portfolio now totals $1,527,597,416.

We added $6,585,300 to our reserves and surplus which now total $95,300,000.

During the first six months we opened two new branch offices, both are in temporary facilities as the permanent offices are being constructed — one office is at the Fairlane Development in Dearborn on Hubbard Drive near Southfield and the second office is in Sterling Heights at the corner of Schoenherr Road and the Metropolitan Parkway. Also during the first six months this year we enlarged and modernized our Garden City office on Middlebelt Road near Ford Road.

Three more branch offices are scheduled to open in the second half of 1977. These branches are at the corner of Ann Arbor Road and Haggerty Road in Plymouth Township; on the Eisenhower Parkway at Packard Road in Ann Arbor and on Thirteen Mile Road near Farmington Road in Farmington Hills.

For the remainder of 1977 we expect continued improving economic conditions with a high level of savings deposits due to our very attractive savings rates. Loan demand is extremely heavy and we expect it to continue. 1977 will be one of the best years ever in terms of housing construction and sales in the Metropolitan Detroit area.

Sincerely,

Thomas R. Ricketts

Ford urges cheap mail rate

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) urged has Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar to support his plan to provide special reduced postal rates for private citizens using first class mail.

Congressman Ford announced his proposal early last month, when he introduced "The Citizens Postal Rate Relief Act of 1977," designed to protect the public from rapidly rising postal rates.

The bill would freeze first-class postage rates at the present 13-cent level, and tie any future changes to the level of inflation. This special rate would apply only to private citizens and not to business firms and corporations.

Congressman Ford's Rate Relief Act would retain the 13-cent level until at least the end of 1978. At that time, the rate would be adjusted on the basis of cost-of-living changes during 1977 and 1978. Postal rates thereafter would be adjusted at the end of each even-numbered year in the same manner.

Congressman Ford, in a letter to Postmaster General Bailar, urged him to seek Board approval of the special citizens' rate.

"It is my understand that the USPS Board of Governors is expected to approve a filing for a rate increase. It would be both appropriate and beneficial for you to request, and I urge you to do so, board approval for a separate rate structure on behalf of the private citizen who uses first class mail service," he said.

"I am sure you can see the benefits in improved public relations and in the increased mail volume which citizen postal rate relief would generate."

Dedicate rest area

Gloria Crafton, Miss Michigan Transpo, shows the beautiful info plaza of the new rest area recently dedicated on I-94 near Rawsonville Road. The 20-acre landscaped facility is equipped with modern, heated restrooms, lighting, parking, telephones, outdoor cooking facilities and picnic tables. Approximately 40 persons were on hand for the dedication, including Treasurer Dorothy York and Trustee Floyd Thetford of Van Buren Township and Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson.

Welding exam scheduled

Schoolcraft College has been chosen as a site for the national welding inspector certification examination given twice yearly.

The college was chosen following a recommendation by the welding advisory committee to the Detroit Chapter of the American Welding Society (AWS) which then recommended Schoolcraft to the national association of AWS.

According to Mary Montezuma, administrative assistant in the qualification-certification department of the AWA headquarters in Miami, Schoolcraft has ideal facilities, staff and proctors to administer the difficult examinations for the much sought after certificates.

The 3-part examination consists of open book, closed book and practical application, and covers five diversified welding codes. All testing material is returned to Florida for scoring and participants are notified within a 2-month period if they have been qualified as certified welding inspectors.

Schoolcraft administered the test in May when 19 participants from throughout Michigan took the day-long examination. The test was first given at Schoolcraft in January of this year.

Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Schools receive aid payments

State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has announced that the final state school aid payments for the 1976-77 school year has been sent to school districts in the 13th Senatorial District. The state school aid payment sent June 1 amounted to $16,347.387 for the final installment.

Next year's state school aid payments will begin on Aug. 1, 1977. Payments for state school aid are made on the first of the month in August, October, December, February, April and June.

"Having finished out the year without any problems experienced earlier in the school year, I certainly hope next year's school state aid payments are kept on schedule," Faust said. "If the economy continues to move upward in Michigan we should have no delays in the 1977-78 state aid payments."

Along with the regular state aid payments to school districts are Title I and III payments to some districts. Other districts qualify for and have received Vocational Education aid. Title I payments totaled $462,931 while Title III payments went to two districts and amounted to $2,167. The Vocational Education Act of 1963 accounted for payments amounting to $60,370.

Receiving state and federal aid were:

—Cherry Hill School District, $494,378 in state aid and $4,400 Title I funds.

—Inkster School District, $689,906 in state aid and $10,183 in Title I funds.

—Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $1,185,937 in state aid, $56,125 in Title I funds and $6,197 in vocational education money.

—Romulus Community Schools, $512,247 in state aid and $2,188 in vocational education funds.

—Wayne-Westland Community Schools, $3,434,584 in state aid and $102,133 in Title I funds.

—Van Buren Public School District, $692,646 in state aid and $20,775 in Title I money.

Children want approval

Children want their parents to show approval of them, to listen to what they have to say and to look at them. "Look at Me," a new mini-series on Channel 56 is based on this theory and is a package of ideas and tips to help parents achieve better relations with their children.

The five half-hour shows are being televised on Thursdays at 9 a.m. On July 7, "Look at Me" zeroes in on "The Working Mother" with suggestions on how to turn chores into fun-filled activities to be shared with the children. For example, sorting laundry can become a "match" game and grocery shopping can become a lesson in size, shapes and colors.

CITY OF ROMULUS
hereby gives

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT for the project it has proposed (for Entitlement Funds) under U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Community Block Grant Program.

Under the Federal regulations governing this program, the following proposed project is subject to an environmental review:

NEIGHBORHOOD CONSERVATION AND RESTORATION

Community beautification activities, removal of blight and trash, etc., and development of Neighborhood Center to provide counseling, home maintenance information, and services related to revitalizing the area.

The City finds that this project will have no significant effect on the environment; it is only to counteract deterioration that would otherwise occur. An Environmental Review Record covering this project may be examined and copied during normal business hours at the Community Development Administration, Romulus City Hall (address given below). Comments regarding the review may be submitted at the same office for a period of 15 days following the date of this notice. Unless further proceedings are found to be necessary, due to responses to this notice, or otherwise, nor further environmental review is proposed to be conducted, and the City intends to ask for the release of funds.

Date of Notice: July 13, 1977

TODAY'S Real Estate

by M. Phyllis Crabtree

It is part of every real estate professional's duty to follow exactly the instructions that a seller of real estate gives him. If these instructions are not followed, and some sort of difficulty results, it is the professional who is liable. Consider, for example, the case of a seller who instructs his broker only to accept cash payments. If the broker were then to accept notes in payment for the property sold, and these notes were later found to be invalid for some reason, it would be the broker, not the seller, who would have to make the loss good.

A staff of highly trained sales representatives await you at CENTURY 21 COMMUNITY REALTORS, 10675 Belleville Road, Belleville. Complete assisting in seeking a smooth, fast transaction is guaranteed as our management personnel are trained to expedite loan processing, conveying, financing and insurance. Whether your a buyer or seller, let us go to work for you today. Phone 697-2121.

DID YOU KNOW:
When you are selling property, it is always best to give specific instructions to us.

Praise called a duty as much as prayer

The Rev. ROBERT L. DICKSON, PASTOR, FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH Wayne

The Bible abounds in exhortations to praise. Scripture declares that in the life of a believer praise is beautiful, necessary and pleasing to God. God is looking for praise-filled people. All through Scripture there is the call to PRAISE. There are over 300 injunctions scattered through out the Bible that tell us to sing! Various expressions are used but the intent is to give release to our feelings of joy and thanksgiving in vocal harmony and melody. Listen as we are told: "Sing unto God... Sing praises to His name... Sing joyfully unto the Lord.. Sing, O ye Congregations."

There appears to be many more calls to praise than to prayer. Yet prayer is continually urged. It is essential. It is the Christian's vital breath. The man or woman who doesn't pray cuts himself off from all good. A day without prayer is a day without protection, a day of peril. Prayer is essential. Yet praise would seem to be no less a duty than prayer. The Psalmist writes: "Let everything that breathes praise the Lord."

In the 103rd Psalm he calls upon all that is within him to praise God's name. He thinks of the powers and capacities of his nature and would have them all awake and alert to join in song. He exhorts himself not to forget God's benefits. What are some of these?

"Who forgives all your iniquity,
Who heals all your diseases,
Who redemms your life from the Pit,
Who crowns you with steadfast love and mercy."

These are only a few of God's benefits which are coming to us continually. Since it is God's intention to bring nothing but good to his people, it seems there could never be anything but praise in our hearts and on our lips. But listen on any day, the brightest and sunniest day of the year, to the complaints and murmurings of people. How like the children of Israel we are! After being delivered from slavery in Egypt, being lead across the Red Sea, being miraculously fed on manna and given water to drink from the flinty rock, they began to murmur and complain against their circumstances. "O that we had meat to eat! We remember the fish we ate in Egypt for nothing, the cucumbers, the melons, the leeks, the onions and the garlic."

For some it seems that almost nothing goes well with them. The habit of discontent has grown so strong that they are never quite pleased or satisfied with anything. In most perfect of circumstances they always find some flaws.

The trouble really is, however, in the persons themselves who complain not in the providence that blesses their lives. What such people need isn't more agreeable circumstances with all things different to suit their tastes and whims, but a new heart, being born again with a contented mind, a praising and thankful spirit.

There's a renewed emphasis these days on the singing of the Psalms. We sing a number of these in our worship services. As you sing these choruses, you begin to feel what the author felt. You come to sense and see what the one who wrote it was experiencing and you soon respond to God's goodness. In times of pressure, instead of turning on your TV or picking up a novel, take the Word. Read aloud one of the Psalms and declare it to be the expression of your own heart to God. It will bring you into liberty and victory. It is a glorious antidote to the pressures of our times — PRAISE HIM!

Hits legislation keeping income tax at 4.6%

The approval of legislation to continue the state income tax rate at 4.6 percent constitutes a breach of faith with the people of Michigan and substantiates the need for new leadership in the Governor's office, according to State Sen. Patrick H. McCollough of Dearborn.

McCollough, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, managed to keep the bill bottled up there for several hours before political maneuvering on the Senate floor resulted in passage of a discharge petition that took the measure out of committee.

It then was passed, given immediate effect and signed into law by the Governor to prevent the scheduled rollback of the income tax from 4.6 to 4.4 percent last week.

McCollough, leading the fight to block the legislation and permit the tax to roll back to 4.4 percent, consistently voted no on all the motions relating to its passage.

"I deeply regret that this legislation was approved and that the promise that was made to the people in 1975 was broken," McCollough said. "What is especially regrettable is that it was completely unnecessary to break this promise since even without that 2 percent we will have enough revenues coming in to the state next year."

McCollough was referring to the fact that when lawmakers raised the income tax rate in 1975 from 3.9 to 4.6 percent, they promised Michigan taxpayers that it would drop to 4.4 percent on July 1, 1977.

And, prior to the voting on the bill, McCollough had provided the legislators and other state officials with reliable data from the Research Seminar for Quantitative Economics at the University of Michigan that showed that the state did not really need the estimated $80 million it would lose in the next fiscal year, if the tax were allowed to drop.

In fact, the data revealed that the state would have about $300 million in unanticipated new money available.

Garden tidbits

This week's tips from the Garden Doctor include:

Q: Some kind of small insects are on the stems and leaves of my tomatoes. They are green and really cover the newest growth. What is safe to use for control?

A: These sound like aphids. Malthion or diazinon will give control. Observe the wait period indicated on the label before harvesting. Use the sprays only when the temperatures are below 80 degrees. A sharp spray from the garden hose will often knock these soft-bodied insects from the plant when aphids are present in small numbers.

Q: Yellow and black striped beetles are eating the leaves of our potatoes. Will these beetles kill them?

A: You are describing the Colorado potato bug. Thee don't usually kill the plants, but do enough damage to the leaves that yield would be greatly reduced. Sevin or diazinon should keep them in check.

Q: Should the tops be cut off the iris and peonies?

A: No, let the stems and leaves remain. You would only trim off the tops, if you were transplanting them.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE
NOTICE OF INTENT
TO REQUEST FUND RELEASE FOR COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT

The City of Belleville intends to request the release of funds it has made application for under the Community Development Block Grant Act of 1974. These funds are to be used for:

1. Water line replacement.
2. Housing assistance.
3. Barrier-free applications.
4. Storm sewer.
5. Resurface alleys.
6. Traffic signal light.

Estimated cost $69,656.00

Notice was given on April 27, 1977 that an environmental review led to findings of No Significant Effect on Environment would result from these activities. Environmental review record was on file at City Clerk's Office, 6 Main Street, Belleville, Michigan for review, copying and comments until May 21, 1977. No comments were received.

The City of Belleville will undertake the above described projects with Block Grant funds under Title 1 of Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The City of Belleville is certifying to HUD that the City of Belleville and Mayor Justin Emerson, in his official capacity as Chief Executive Officer, has consented to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental impact reviews, decision making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of this certification, is that upon its approval, the City of Belleville may use Block Grant funds and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and amendments. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of certification only if it is on one of the following basis:

1. That the certification was not in fact executed by the Chief Executive Officer or other officer of applicant approved by HUD, or
2. That applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58) and sent to HUD, 477 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Objections to release of funds on basis other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD. No objection received after August 3, 1977 will be considered by HUD.

CHAPTER XIV
ARTICLE 1

An Ordinance to Regulate Traffic in the Vicinity of and Vehicles Offering Ice Cream, Ice Milk, Frozen Dairy Products, or Ice Flavored with Syrup for sale from a Motor Vehicle on the Streets of the City of Romulus

It is hereby Ordained by the City of Romulus:

SECTION 1 DEFINITIONS

1.00 Ice Cream Truck

Every motor vehicle in which ice cream, ice milk, frozen dairy products or ice flavored with syrup for sale from a motor vehicle on the streets of the City of Romulus.

1.01 Vend or Vending

Offering ice cream, ice milk, frozen dairy products or ice flavored with syrup for sale from a motor vehicle on the streets of the City of Romulus.

SECTION 2. DRIVERS TO STOP FOR ICE CREAM TRUCK

2.00 Driver Meeting Ice Cream Truck

The driver of a vehicle meeting or overtaking from either direction an ice cream truck stopped on the street shall stop before reaching the truck when the flashing lights and stop signal arm, described in Section 3, are in use. After stopping a driver may proceed past such truck at a reasonable and prudent speed, not exceeding 15 miles per hour, and shall yield the right of way to any pedestrian who crosses the roadway to or from the ice cream truck.

2.01 Drivers On A Street With Separate Roadways

The driver of a vehicle on a street with separate roadways need not stop upon meeting or passing an ice cream truck on a different roadway.

SECTION 3. EQUIPMENT REQUIREMENTS FOR ICE CREAM TRUCKS

3.00 Equipment

In addition to other equipment required by law, every ice cream truck shall be equipped with:

(a) Signal lamps mounted at the same level and as high and as widely spaced laterally as practicable. These lamps shall be five to seven inches in diameter and shall display two alternately flashing amber lights on the front of the vehicles and two alternately flashing red lights on the rear of the vehicle, both lights visible at 500 feet in normal sunlight upon a straight level street.

(b) A stop signal arm that can be extended horizontally from the left side of the truck duplicating the design size and specifications shown in (e). This arm shall be red and white in color and contain two alternately flashing lights three to five inches in diameter visible at 300 feet to the front and rear in normal sunlight upon a straight level highway. The color of the two lights facing to the front shall be amber and the two lights facing to the rear shall be red. The bottom of the signal arm shall be 42 inches above the highway.

(c) A convex mirror mounted on the front so the driver in his normal seating position can see the area in front of the truck obscured by the hood.

(d) The stop signal arm required by Section 3.00 (b) shall be as follows:

* Colors to Meet Specifications in the 1970 Federal Highway Administration Standard Color Charts.

View From Rear of Truck

(e) The provisions of Section 3.00, sub-sections (b) and (d) shall be come operative thirty (30) days after the effective date of this Ordinance.

SECTION 4. USE OF SPECIAL LIGHTS AND STOP ARM ON ICE CREAM TRUCKS

4.00 Use of Lights and Arm

The driver of an ice cream truck stopped on the streets for the purpose of vending shall actuate the special flashing lights and extend the stop signal arm required by Section 3, sub-section (d).

4.01 Lights and Arm Not to Be Used

These lights and the stop signal arm shall not be used when the truck is in motion or at any time the truck is stopped for a purpose other than vending.

SECTION 5. INSPECTION REQUIRED

5.00 Inspection

Every ice cream truck shall be inspected by The Ordinance Enforcement Officer once each year prior to its use in this City for the purpose of retail sales of frozen dairy products. He shall inspect each ice cream truck to determine whether it complies with this Ordinance and other State and Local Laws.

SECTION 6 VENDING RESTRICTIONS

6.00 (a) A person shall not vend on main thoroughfares or in the central business district, on streets where the speed limit exceeds 25 miles per hour or other areas of the City of Romulus where sale is already prohibited by Local Ordinance.

(b) A person shall not vend within 500 feet of any property used as a school from one hour before the regular school day to one hour after the regular school day; provided, this sub-section shall not apply on days when school is not attended by children nor on school property when vending has been approved in writing by the principal.

(c) A person shall vend only when the ice cream truck is lawfully parked or stopped.

(d) A person shall vend only from the side of the truck away from moving traffic and as near as possible to the curb or edge of the street.

(e) A person shall not vend to a person standing in the roadway.

(f) A person shall not stop on the left side of a one-way street to vend.

SECTION 7. NOISE

When an ice cream truck is stopped to transact business, the driver or operator shall not use, operate, play or permit to be used, operated or played, any radio receiving set, musical instrument, phonograph, loud speaker, sound amplifier, or other machine or device for the producing or reproducing of sound.

SECTION 8. TIME

Ice cream trucks shall not conduct business in residential areas between the hours of 8:00 p.m. and 12:00 noon of the following day.

SECTION 9. BACKING RESTRICTED

The driver of an ice cream truck shall not back the same to make or attempt a sale.

SECTION 10. UNAUTHORIZED RIDERS PROHIBITED

(a) The driver of an ice cream truck shall not permit any unauthorized person to ride in or on the vehicle.

(b) A person shall not ride in or on an ice cream truck unless employed by its owner or unless authorized in writing to do so by the owner or the Wayne County Sheriff's Office.

SECTION 11. EXEMPTION AUTHORIZED

The Mayor may except or exempt from the requirements of this Ordinance any ice cream truck which is not used to vend to persons under 12 years of age.

SECTION 12. CONFLICTING ORDINANCES

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with any of the provisions of this Ordinance, are hereby repealed.

SECTION 13. EFFECTIVE DATE

SECTION 14. SAVING CLAUSE

If any clause, sentence, paragraph or part of this Ordinance shall for any reason be adjudged or decreed to be invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction, such judgment or decree shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance, but such remainder shall continue in full force and effect as though such invalid portion has not been adopted.

I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an ordinance adopted by the Romulus City Council at their Regular Meeting held on the 28th day of June, 1977.

Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk
City of Romulus

ATTEST:
JAMES C. STEWART, MAYOR
CITY OF ROMULUS

Within forty-five (45) days after the publication of any ordinance duly adopted by the Council, a petition may be presented to the Council protesting against such ordinance continuing in effect. Said petition shall contain the text of such ordinance and shall be signed by not less than six (6 percent) percent of the registered electors registered at the last preceding election at which a Mayor of the City was elected. Said ordinance shall thereupon and thereby be suspended from operation and the Council shall immediately reconsider such ordinance.

Miscarriage likely

Smoking mother can hurt newborn infant

There is now "hard evidence" that the smoking pregnant woman does bad things to her unborn infant.

She is more likely to produce a miscarriage, an abortion, a pre-term, a small-for-term, or a deficient infant. She may even produce an addicted infant.

According to Dr. Stanley M. Garn, University of Michigan professor of human nutrition and anthropology: "Smoking of the mother affects growth, size and maturity of the off-spring, as well as the probability of death or deformity."

"We can show that the newborn infant of smoking mothers is systematically elevated in hemoglobin concentration and in hematocrit (packed cell volume) as if it had been gestated in a smoke-filled room, which it has."

The U-M nutrition and growth expert based his conclusions on comparisons with 20,000 normal infants, using age values for length, weight and head circumference of infants in a continuing study.

Helen A. Shaw and Kinne McCabe participated with Prof. Garn in the study.

Among his many tables and statistics Dr. Garn, who also is a Fellow in the U-M Center for Human Growth and Development, found that the percent of low-birthweight infants is nearly four times greater among the offspring of smoking mothers than non-smoking.

The size of the infant's head has been found to be directly related to the number of cigarettes the mother habitually smokes each day.

"To the extent that head circumference is related to intellective function, these findings are of triple importance," he said.

Beyond head size, infants of smoking mothers are smaller and weight less — "there is a 13 percent excess of heavy smoking mothers in the short-for-birth category."

The Garn report, presented at a symposium at the Kellogg Center in East Lansing, shows basically the same results between white and black mothers.

"Newborn babies with shorter length, low weight and small head circumference tend to have an excess of smoking mothers and a greater excess of heavy-smoking (more than a ½ pack) mothers," Garn said.

The U-M study, financed by the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke, shows no difference in race, cultural, or educational factors.

"We are dealing with the smoking mother, whoever she is, and with the infant, no matter what his background is," Garn said.

The "smoking effect" may last as long as seven years and may be counted a major, but preventable cause of small infant size, weight and head size.

Why? It may be due to the tobacco mosaic virus itself. Or, it may be due to smoking mothers not eating properly and thus restricting vital nutrients to the infant. It may be due to the runt-effect of smoke.

Whatever the reasons, the evidence, according to Garn, leaves no room for if's, and's, or buts.

Miller School wins safety prize

Wayne County Deputy Sheriff William Hunter presents a check for $100 to Principal William D. Miller and Mrs. Kohr, a member of the faculty of the Miller Elementary School in Huron Township. The school was recognized for having the best safety display in the Sheriff's "Safety Before Summer" program undertaken in 28 elementary schools in Western Wayne County. The students who constructed the safety display look on approvingly. Wayne County Sheriff's Local 502 provided the prizes to Miller and five other schools in the interest of promoting safety among the youngsters of Western Wayne County.

Three from Belleville in Ren-Cen

Three Belleville residents have begun working high in the sky beside the Detroit River in the new downtown Renaissance Center.

Robert L. Edwards, William H. Freize and Sheryl L. Ploch moved with the central office of the AC-Delco Division of General Motors from longtime quarters in the GM Building on West Grand Boulevard to a tower of the riverfront complex.

It is the first group from an auto manufacturer to occupy space in the Renaissance Center, in which General Motors is a partner with a $12 million investment.

The Belleville residents are among 458 men and women in AC-Delco's ultra-modern new headquarters "demonstrating by their presence the continuing belief of GM in a growing and prospering Detroit", according to General Manager William C. Lee.

It took nearly 5,000 cartons to move the records and equipment of the division, which has been based in the GM Building since 1920.

AUTO FACTS
By Jr. Kosin

The oil that circulates through an engine performs four important functions. Its primary task is to provide a slippery film between fast moving parts in order to reduce friction that can cause excessive wear or even binding. The oil also acts as a sealant in the cylinders, placing a fluid bond between the pistons and the cylinder walls. In its other two functions, oil serves as a coolant, absorbing and carrying away some of the engine heat, and as a cleanser, picking up such contaminants as water, gasoline, dirt and metal particles.

Make sure your car's cooling system is doing its job during hot summer driving with quality parts from KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster! As the "House of a Million Parts", we carry a tremendous inventory of parts and accessories for both foreign and domestic cars. Our experienced staff offers friendly, expert counter service and are always happy to help you select those parts that are best for your particular car. We also offer complete machine shop service. Call KOSIN'S at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays until 5 P.M.

AUTO TIP:
Have your car tuned before any long trip, and just before you leave, check tire pressure, gas, oil, and battery fluid levels.

Open house marks 66th wedding date

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

In celebration of the 66th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hall, entertained at an open house at their home on Borgman Street on Sunday, July 3. Present for a buffet dinner, featuring a special wedding cake served at 3 o'clock, were many relatives and friends from the community. A relative, coming the farthest, was a son, Marion Robinson, from Albany, N.Y. The honored couple received many floral arrangements and gifts of money.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, who recently sold their home at Bristol, Va., are now making their home with the Halls and a son, William Robinson and wife at Westland.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saunders and daughters, Kristen and Erin, arrived on Saturday, July 2, from Weare, N.H. to spend a week with the former's mother Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street. They plan to journey North to visit Mrs. Saunders' mother, Mrs. Harold Klaiss at Crystal Lake, their grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Moore at Charlevoix, and other relatives at East Jordon after their visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nolff of Edison Street are proudly announcing the fact that they are now great-grandparents. A baby boy was born June 24 to their grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Nolff of Norfolk, Va., weight 7 lbs.-7 ozs. He has been named Michael Alan.

The father, who is stationed at the Naval Base at Norfolk, is the son of the Alan Nolffs of Madison Heights.

Guests for several days this past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Road were the latter's nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ratv and daughters, Penney, Tammy and Karey, from Del Monte, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Potts and daughter, Amy, from St. Charles, Ill., spent several days this past week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Potts of Wabash Street. On Sunday, July 3, they all attended a family gathering and farewell dinner at the Tom Potts home in Wayne for Mr. and Mrs. Louis Allen and son, Steven. The Allens, who have been living at Lemontree Apartments, left on Monday for their future home at Pleasanton, Calif.

Weekend guests over the Fourth at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fry of Liberty Street were their granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Cole from Columbus, Neb. On Sunday, July 3, members of the Fry family, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Fry and family of Robson Road and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fry and family of Haggerty Road joined them for a family dinner at Harbor House. The Coles left for home on Tuesday.

Guests over the weekend of the Fourth at the Liberty Street home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Florian were the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Smaligo and daughters, Roberta and Ramona, from East McKeesport, Pa.

Mrs. Howard McQuaid of Second Street accompanied her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Adams, to Atlanta where they spent several days over the holiday weekend. While there Mrs. McQuaid called on a former Belleville resident, Mrs. Grace Champion.

Mrs. Raymond (Janet) Helzerman of Martinsville Road has returned home after having spent the past three weeks with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Smith and children, Shawn and Ehren, at Kettle Falls, Wash. She motored out with son, Roger, and family but made the trip home by plane.

Guests this pat week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ketchum of Harmony Lane were the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neimann from Sterling, Colo. and an aunt, Mrs. Charlotte Doyle from Kalamazoo.

A brother-in law, Vernon White, from Titusville, Fla., has been a guest the past few days at the Bedell Street home of Mrs. Helen White and son, James.

Overnight guests on Friday of last week at the Joe Parker home were friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen with daughters, Charlene and Becky, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Holm from Massillon, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Hursel Newsom from Virgie, Ky. were weekend guests of the latter's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Johnson of Roland Street.

Dinner guests on Sunday of last week at the Karr Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lupher were Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson of Franklin and William Price and son Robert of Lohr Road.

Mrs. Lester (Marguerite) Heywood of Farmington Hills was a recent guest of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. George Robson of Tyler Road. Mrs. Heywood had just returned from a week's cruise on Lake Winnepeg in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Troye Lambert of Harrison were callers last Tuesday on Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street and other relatives and friends.

Neighbors and friends who gathered at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Tator of High Street for a Fourth of July picnic were the Orlo Robertses of High Street, the Royce Smiths of West Columbia Avenue, the Gillman Mullreeds of Madelon Street, Mrs. L. Flavell and her granddaughter, Pat Flavell, and grandson, Fred Flavell of Biggs Street, Mrs. Carl Simmons of Largo, Fla. and Pat Alpervitz of Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Zimmer and family of Charlotte were Sunday guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Robson of Tyler Road. Later in the afternoon they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Zimmer of Martinsville Road who came to help celebrate their granddaughter, Gwen's 11th birthday.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT V. GALBREATH

St. Andrew's of Ann Arbor scene of July 2 wedding

A wedding trip to Canada followed the recent ceremony which united Debra Jean Cobbs and Robert Vincent Galbreath in holy matrimony. The young couple exchanged vows before The Rev. Gordon Jones on July 2 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Ann Arbor.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cobbs of 2483 Carriage Way, Ypsilanti, carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and English ivy as she approached the altar. For her wedding day she donned a white qiana gown designed with slightly capped sleeves and a deep "V" neckline enhanced with hand-clipped lace to match that which traced the waistline.

Bridal attendants appeared in ice mint polyester frocks topped with matching jackets as they preceded the bride up the aisle. Pamela Carnahan of Belleville was asked to be maid of honor with Sandy Porzondek of Belleville and Lesia Blacklaw and Lorraine Lambert of Ann Arbor as bridesmaids.

Their colonial bouquets were comprised of yellow roses and baby's breath.

The bridegroom, who resides in Ypsilanti, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Galbreath of Danville, Calif. He asked Robert Adams to serve as best man and Chuck Galbreath of Danville, Calif.; Robb Reinker of Cleveland Heights, Ohio and Bill Lambert of Ann Arbor to be ushers.

The newlyweds, who are now making their home in Ypsilanti, were honored at a reception at Roma Hall of Ann Arbor following the wedding.

The new Mrs. Galbreath, a Belleville High School alumna, is a graduate of Washtenaw Community College. Her husband is a recent graduate of Eastern Michigan University.

Around town

They played host on the 3rd of July

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Think of the Fourth of July and what do you envision? The patriotic colors of this land — red, white and blue — of course!

That was just the decorative scheme used by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Roberts when they entertained some 30 relatives and friends at a cookout on Sunday, July 3, at their home on Liberty Street in Belleville.

American flags were very much in evidence, accenting the name tags which each guest wore and even topping the dessert cupcakes which were iced in red and white. Completing the decor were checked table cloths in the American colors and red and blue candle centerpieces.

Barbequed chicken was prepared in advance. Those who preferred steak, hamburgers or hot dogs, were invited to cook their own on several grills which were readied for the occasion.

Answering their host and hostess' invitation and enjoying a beautiful summer day together were Mr. and Mrs. Rick Utley of Wayne; Laura Palmer of Plymouth and her fiance, Ken Bowles of Wayne; Diana Boyagian and Vickie Vulcannon of Garden City; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Slate and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Coyle of Westland; Mr. and Mrs. Eules Baker of Dearborn Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Candiotti of Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Amicucci of Lincoln Park; Mr. and Mrs. John Nehila of Romulus; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark and son, Rusty, of Jackson; and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Dawson, Dr. E. S. Alford and Mrs. Roberts' mother, Mrs. Winifred Coleman, all of Belleville.

The Clarks and their son were overnight guests at the Robertses, leaving for their home in Jackson after lunch on Monday.

They've returned from New England

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rogers of Denton Road have returned home after being away for 10 days, combining business with pleasure and getting to see a few former neighbors, relatives and friends in New England.

With Boston, Mass. as their target, the couple and their two daughters, Mindy and Molly, were the houseguests of Mrs. Rogers' parents, the Jay Doones, for four days. Leaving the girls with their grandparents, the Rogerses drove to Westbrook, Me. where they were the houseguests of a business associate, Don Barlogh and his wife, Edie, for two days.

After being wined, dined and shown the many points of interest, the Belleville pair continued on to Lawrence, Mass. to call on former neighbors, Glenn and Leigh Crouder, who held an open house in their honor before they traveled the scenic route back to Michigan.

Mindy and Molly will spend two weeks in the East before being put on a plane for home.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Having a party? Giving a shower? Getting the family together for the annual reunion? Out-of-state visitors or visiting yourself? Back from a vacation? Give us a call at 697-9191 and we'll include it in an upcoming Around Town column. Simple as that!)

Senior citizens potluck to honor special July dates

The Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club will hold a potluck picnic at 4 p.m. today, July 13, at Van Buren Park. The club will furnish coffee and ice cream as well as special cakes to honor the July birthdays of Jim Cheyne, Esther Burlingame, Merrill Bird, Betty Strauss, Mary Graham, Ellen Gould and Violet Horste.

Also on the honored list will be Marguerite Kouba, Margaret Anderson, Ella Woolery, Mary Bandura, Russell Van Buhler, Myrtle Kreie, Casimer Michniewicz and Mary O'Connell.

Those marking July wedding anniversaries will also be feted. They are Mike and Doris Sirdanik; Tom and Helen McKenzie, Cecil and Phoebe Hewison, William and Jeanette Krause, Ted and Eva Lupher, Walter and Hazel Greashaber, Nick and Grace DeFrancesco and Frank and Martha Cebolski.

At the group's June 28 meeting, the Belleville Kiwanis Club presented three new wheelchairs to the seniors in appreciation of their help during December Christmas tree sales.

Fred Hudson, who was chairman of the tree-sale, and Jim Richendollar, Kiwanis president, made the presentation and offered their thanks on behalf of the Kiwanians. Harold Cullin, who has organized volunteers for the tree sale for a number of years, was singled out for special applause.

Mary Nichols, coordinator of the Senior Citizens Club, spoke to the group about the complete health check-ups which are to be offered at Belleville High School from July 18 to 28. She urged all to take advantage of the opportunity to obtain a free examination.

For an appointment and further information, senior citizens (only) are to call 274-2800 or 729-2211, Ext. 251.

Summer picnics — make them Mexican

Out of the southwest has come this idea for a Mexican picnic. Sandwiches (known as "tostadas") are made from fried tortillas and stacked with a kidney bean-ground beef mixture, and are a variation of old favorite sloppy joes.

Both canned and frozen tortillas can be found in many supermarkets. They become crisp, golden "leaves" when heated in hot oil a minute or two on each side. They travel easily to your favorite picnic site—or as close as your own back yard.

Perfect with Mexican Tostadas is the refreshingly tart flavor of a lemonade drink, Fruit Fizz. Make it from Kool-Aid sugar-sweetened lemonade mix, and it will take little space in your picnic basket. You won't have to worry about carrying sugar either! But do remember to pack plenty of onion slices, shredded lettuce and tomatoes so you can build the salad right onto your Mexican sandwich.

For a second portable picnic menu, try the Sloppy Joes and Blended Fruit Beverage. Like the kidney bean-ground beef combination, the Sloppy Joe mixture is easy to make; keep it hot in casserole or Dutch oven. Combine several flavors of sugar-sweetened soft drink mix—cherry and raspberry, orange and raspberry, cherry and grape—for a thirst-quenching drink on a warm summer day.

Mexican Tostadas

½ pound ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (16 oz.) red kidney beans
½ cup all-purpose barbecue sauce, any flavor
¼ teaspoon salt
10 tortillas

Brown meat and onion in butter in skillet or saucepan. Add kidney beans, barbecue sauce and salt. Simmer until the mixture is hot and thoroughly blended. Place beef mixture on tortillas, allowing about one-third cup for each. Makes 5 servings.

Fruit Fizz

1 cup sugar-sweetened lemonade mix
1 quart water and ice
1 bottle (28 fl. oz.) ginger ale, chilled

Dissolve lemonade mix in water and ice. Add ginger ale. Serve immediately. Makes 2 quarts or 8 servings.

Sloppy Joes

1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons oil
1 cup finely chopped onions
1 can (16 oz.) pork and beans
1 cup all-purpose barbecue sauce, any flavor
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
8 hamburger buns, split and toasted

Brown meat in oil in a skillet. Add onions and saute until tender, but not browned, stirring occasionally. Stir in pork and beans, barbecue sauce, brown sugar and mustard. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 10 minutes. Serve over the buns as open-faced or closed sandwiches. Makes about 4 cups or 8 servings.

Blended Fruit Beverage

1 envelope cherry sugar-sweetened soft drink mix
1 envelope raspberry sugar-sweetened soft drink mix
4 quarts water with ice cubes

Or use one of the combinations suggested below.

Dissolve soft drink mixes in water and ice. Makes 4 quarts or 16 servings.

Other flavor combinations: Orange and raspberry, Cherry and grape.

A fiesta of food

Kidney beans and ground beef combine with crisp tortillas to make tostadas, the appetizing Mexican version of a Sloppy Joe sandwich. Add shredded lettuce, onions and tomatoes for salad and serve with tall frosted glasses of lemonade drink and chilled fruit for dessert. (Photo courtesy Kool-Aid sugar-sweetened soft drink mix.)

Local women visit Lansing with WCCC College students

Two local residents, Diane Memering and Rowena Cooper of Belleville, were recently given the opportunity to get a closeup view of government at work when they accompanied Leonard Patchin and his political science classes from Wayne County Community College to Lansing June 27. Mrs. Cooper is a student in his model legislatures class and Mrs. Memering was her invited guest for the afternoon excursion.

The day proved to be exciting as well as educational as the two women visited the offices of Gary Owen and Ed Mahalak, their respective legislators, early in the afternoon. They later joined the others in their group on the glass floor of the Capitol Building where they were met by Charles Toy, capitol guide, who led them on a tour of that building and the Supreme Court. Enroute he gave detailed information on paintings, furnishings and materials used in the construction of the capitol.

Following the tour, the class went to the Penthouse Restaurant where they were joined for dinner by Senator Plawecki and Rep. Jeff Padden. A picture taking session ensued with the two elected men posing with their constituents.

Returning to the Capitol Building, the class took its place in the visitor's balcony to watch an evening session of the House. The Belleville women were soon invited down to the floor to join their legislators where they were allowed to occupy to two men's seats and go over some of the many papers covering their desks.

Mahalak and Owen explained the evening's House busines and told why they has voted pro or con on different proposals.

Both young women agree that the trip was worthwhile since it gave them a better understanding of the workings of state government and showed them that elected officials are genuine people, being most willing to give information to anyone who would take the time to ask questions.

The two are already planning their next trip to Lansing, hoping to take their families along and perhaps meeting Senator Faust or even Governor Milliken at that time.

Barb Papin receives award

Barbara Papin, a junior graduate of the Degree of Honor, Lodge 132 of Belleville, won a scholarship from the Degree of Honor Fraternal Life Insurance Association of St. Paul, Minn. She was presented with her certificate and gifts on June 27.

Miss Papin, who is employed at Southland Elias Brothers in Taylor, is attending Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant.

It's a date

Barbeque to go 'whole hog'

SUMPTER — An old-fashioned barbeque will be held July 16 starting at 11 a.m. at Sumpter Park at the corner of Sumpter and Wear Roads. Sponsored by the Dunn Road Church of God in Christ, the meal will feature portions from a whole barbequed hog as well as several accompanying dishes. Tickets for dinner are $3.50. Jasper Douglas is chairman of the event.

ROMULUS — The Ford Pendullum Singles Club invites all singles to a dance July 15 starting at 9 p.m. at the Metro Hilton located at I-94 and Merriman Road. The Freedom Road will play for dancing. Admission is $4 for non-members.

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club will meet today, July 13, at 4 p.m. for a potluck picnic at Van Buren Park. Those with July birthdays and wedding anniversaries are to be honored.

SUMPTER — The Dunn Road Church of God in Christ is holding a continual yard sale from now through Aug. 6 at 23981 Sumpter Road, south of Dunn Road. Hours each day, except for Sunday, are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Lodge honors Mrs. Crook

Degree of Honor Lodge 132 held a formal surprise reception and fun night June 27 for State Escort Dorothy Crook, a past president, at the IOOF Hall on Savage Road, Belleville.

A social hour over punch from 7 to 8 p.m. preceded the program. Hazel Miller, a past president of the lodge, was responsible for the beautifully appointed punch table and flowers.

The evening officially began when Evelyn Arnold, lodge president, introduced Maybelle Ensminger, national committee women on audit; Eva McMullin, national director; Betty Au Buchon, state president; and Hermina Wright, state president, and other state officers.

Lodge officers then retired for an incoming march carrying huge yellow mums, forming an arch with the ushers and surprising the honor guest for the evening by escorting her to the altar. There she was met by National Director Eva McMullin who ushered her to the president's station where she was presented with a corsage of red carnations and gift from her lodge.

She also was honored by songs sung by the State Glee Club directed by Glenrose Barthmass.

The highlight of the event came when the honored guest entered with her four sons, their wives and her nine grandchildren who all belong to the Degree of Honor Fraternal Life Insurance Co. Lodge 132. Each was introduced by the honoree and given a hearty welcome.

The gavel was then turned over to Hazel Miller, past president, who read a resume of Mrs. Crook's life since joining the Lodge in 1951, finding she has always been a dedicated member and officer for 26 years.

Entertainment by the Belleville Kitchen Band, directed by Myrtie Wells, included several songs during which the honored guest was drawn in a buggy by a most gentle horse for the finale.

The invocation was given by State Director Au Buchon after which lunch was served at decorated round tables centered with arrangements of mums.

"What are the rules for funeral traffic?"

Traffic rules governing funeral processions differ sometimes from those governing other traffic. These tips may help if you are in a funeral procession (or to be remembered if you encounter one):

1. Use the windshield sticker or flag we provide.
2. Keep your headlights on. It identifies your vehicle as part of the procession.
3. If the procession is crossing an intersection while the traffic light changes to red, continue through. Do not stop. The funeral procession has the right of way. The lead car, of course, will stop and obey all posted signals.
4. A policeman, if available, may direct funeral traffic through busy intersections.
5. Obtain and read the state traffic regulations regarding funeral processions.
6. If you are NOT part of the procession, remember it has right of way. Do not cross it or join it.

We, as funeral directors, appreciate the escort service which our police department provides. The mourners consider this civic safety service both thoughtful and welcome.

MISS PARKER

MISS WOLFE

Couples plan altar dates

Wedding bells will chime in just a few short weeks for two Belleville couples who are busy with preparations for their August weddings. A third pair has the next six months in which to complete plans for their January nuptials.

PARKER - OBERLIN

Calvary Baptist Church in Ypsilanti will be the setting Aug. 27 for the ceremony which will unite Jan Parker of Belleville and Jon Oberlin of Crystal Falls in holy matrimony.

The engagement of her daughter, a 1975 graduate of Belleville High School, is announced by Mrs. Glen Parker of 8039 Marlowe, Belleville.

Miss Parker, who attended Grand Rapids Baptist College for the past two years, is currently employed at Howard Johnson's of Belleville.

Her fiance, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oberlin of Crystal Falls, graduated from Forest Park High School there before attending Grand Rapids Baptist College for two years. At the present time he is employed by A.G.A. in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

WOLFE - NOLFF

Lorel Lee Wolfe and Dale Charles Nolff, both graduates of Belleville High School, are engaged and making plans for a winter wedding.

Their betrothal is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Roland A. Wolfe of 41910 Savage Rd., Belleville, parents of the bride-elect who resides at 521 Pearl St., Kalamazoo.

Miss Wolfe received her diploma from BHS in 1973 and earned her bachelor's degree in dietetics from Western Michigan University this year. While at WMU she affiliated with Kappa Phi (Christian Woman's Organization) Mortar Board (an honor society) and the Dietetics Club. At the present time she is employed at Borgess Hospital in Kalamazoo.

Her fiance, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Nolff of 326 Edison St., Belleville, is a resident of 123 S. Kendall in Kalamazoo. A 1974 alumnus of BHS, he is presently in his senior year at Western Michigan University where he is majoring in elementary education.

He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society and for the past three years has been manager of the WMU basketball team. He is an employee of the J. C. Penney Co. in Kalamazoo.

The young couple will be married Jan. 14 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

Mc PHEE - MORROW

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thrall of Tampa, Fla. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia McPhee, and Gerrard Morrow, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pashenee of Dearborn Heights.

The bride-elect and her fiance, both residents of Belleville, will be married August 6 at a friend's home in Chelsea.

Applications being taken

Huron Countryside Co-op Nursery — ideal training ground for kids, adults

Huron Countryside Co-operative Nursery, Inc., which is located at Huron Elementary School on West Huron River Drive and Merriman Road, is currently accepting applications for fall enrollment.

The organization, which is non-profit, non-sectarian and racially nondiscriminatory, has no outside ownership or sponsorship and is affiliated with the Greater Detroit Co-operative Nursery Council.

It is a center organized by parents to provide good group experiences for their child and to study young children through active participation in the program. Licensed by the Michigan Department of Social Services, the school must meet standards for fire and health saftey and childrens' programs.

Parents handle all administrative details necessary to keep classroom and programs in operation. Parent educational programs are included at regular business meetings to supplement parents' classroom learning with workshops and prepared literature.

Mrs. Lois Winfield, a former kindergarten and Head Start teacher, is in charge of the Monday and Friday classes and encourages children to explore their world and learn about themselves as they grow and develop in the nursery environment.

Nancy Kuehnel, membership chairman, is accepting applications at 942-9534. She points out that prerequisites for membership are as follows:

1. Telephone or personal interview with membership chairman.
2. Completion and return of all application forms.
3. Payment of first and last month's tuition prior to starting date.
4. Having health forms on file upon entering school.

Children 2½ through six, who MUST be potty trained, are placed in classes according to age.

The basic adult responsibilities that come with membership include assisting the teacher in the classroom on a rotation basis with other members; attending orientation meetings to learn about the nursery; attending monthly business meetings, held in the evening; serving on a committee or the executive board; assisting in fund raising and open house projects and providing own transportation and babysitting for siblings.

Tuition, which is $14 per month per child, is payable by the first of each month with a $2 late fee charge for tardiness. "Last month's tuition" is payable with application and acts as a security deposit which is applied to the last month of membership.

A registration fee of $12 maximum per child per year (fees are less for second child in family) is payable with application and covers insurance, council dues and duplication expenses. It is not refundable unless the nursery fails to enroll the child. Registration fee is half price after January.

The parent co-operative nursery school provides for the growth and development of both young children and their parents in a unique setting where they explore new situations together.

For the children, it offers a place to play and have fun under the careful direction of a trained and objective teacher. Their needs are of primary importance to the adult present and the environment has been carefully planned and equipped to fit their needs.

The teacher represents a new kind of adult relationship to the preschool child. She provides continuity from day to day and is the only person the child can count on for comfort, encouragement and guidance. Yet, because he must learn to share her attention with so many other children, the very situation will encourage him to develop an emotional independence beyond what he has experienced before.

The teacher will help him to develop this independence when he is ready, at his own rate. She will help him learn to channel his emotions and develop the attitudes and social skills necessary to good relations; be considerate of others' feelings; share desired playthings and do his share in picking up.

Parent participation plays an important part in creating a family and community feeling, making the child's transition from home to school less abrupt. Parent and child develop a new source of comradeship from "going to school together." When parents incorporate nursery methods at home, they reinforce and multiply the value of time and effort in the classroom.

In addition to the classroom activities, youngsters have enjoyed trips to the Toledo Zoo, an apple orchard and cider mill and the Pumpkin Patch (there they had the chance to pick their own pumpkin to take home); have gone on a nature hike and toured the Taylor Post Office and Fire Department and Detroit Metro Airport where they went on board a United Air Lines 727 and sat in the cockpit.

Classes are held on Monday and Friday from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. and 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Contact Nancy Kuehnel at 942-9534 for any additional information or to register.

Free health tests for senior citizens set for July 18-28

A special health screening for senior citizens has been arranged for the first time locally by Mary Elizabeth Nichols, senior citizens coordinator, in conjunction with the Wayne County Health Department.

The program to be held July 18 - 28, is absolutley free of charge and offers health tests to identify medical problems. If necessary, examinees will be referred to their own doctor or assisted in finding other medical and social resources for followup and treatment.

The following services will be provided: blood pressure, height, weight, temperature, pulse, respiration, urine tests, vision and hearing tests, hematocrit for anemia, dextrostix for blood suguar, tuberculin test and glaucoma test. Pap smear tests will also be provided for women along with self breast examinations and a physical assessment.

The team, which will be responsible for the health screening, consists of public health nurses, medical social workers, a nurse clinician or physician and volunteers.

All senior citizens in Belleville, Van Buren and Sumpter Townships are welcome to take advantage of this screening program. The only requirements are to be 60 years of age or older and living in Wayne County other than the city of Detroit.

Appointments, which are necessary, may be made by calling 274-2800 or 729-2211, Ext. 251. If the call involves a toll charge from your vicinity, please call Mary Nichols at 699-2001 and she, in turn, will set up an appointment.

Anniversary forms available

For those marking wedding anniversaries with celebrations and parties, we have special anniversary forms to fill out. The questionnaires include all the pertinent information needed for putting a story together.

If you are planning to celebrate an anniversary and would like your friends to read about it in The Belleville Enterprise of The Romulus Roman, simply stop by our office at 116 Fourth St., Belleville, or telephone the Suburban Living Editor, Lee Smith, at 697-9191 to have a form mailed out.

We will be happy to accept photographs if they meet with our specifications. Please include one if it's available.

There is no charge for this service.

Meet Office on Aging's nutrition unit

By MAUREEN BEATTY

The Wayne County Offic on Aging's Nutrition Program is Title VII of The Older Americans Act. In effect since November 1974, there now are 44 sites available to senior citizens 60 years or older.

The greatest portion of funding for this program comes from the federal government and donated services from Wayne County. The program is designed to offer seniors an appetizing, balanced meal. All sites are opened Monday through Friday with lunch being served at approximately noon. A 50-cent donation is asked of those who are financially able, others are not required to contribute. The donations are returned to the fund for future continuation. Although home deliveries can be made with the help of volunteers to those seniors who are physically unable to attend a site, the intention of the program is to serve people in a group setting.

Couples meet other couples with similar interests. Seniors alone make lasting friendships and share in conversation and laughter during their main meal of the day. I am always happy when I see a shy, quiet newcomer eventually become an outgoing, friendly group member. The program is a great blues' chaser while enabling seniors to eat nutriously at the lowest possible cost.

Westland has two outcounty nutrition sites, one located in J Building at Eloise on Merriman Road (phone 326-9600) and one at The Kirk of Our Savior United Presbyterian Church on Cherry Hill Road (phone 728-1088). Lunch is by reservation only, since meals must be ordered in advance. You may call the J Building number between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily or Betty Hesselgrave at the church between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. For the names and locations of other sites call 224-0953.

Dear Mr. Belanger,

You caught me by surprise the day you came into J Building asking about me, so I would like to take this opportunity to explain.

As I commented then, having read no more than an introduction, I feel you were prejudging a great deal. Now that a few months have passed, I hope you have a better understanding of this column.

I do not intend to get involved in the political aspects of funding, etc. My approach is a positive one. Although there may be much room for improvement, steps have been taken and programs have been initiated to help our senior citizens. Certainly we have come a long way from a decade ago. My hope is to make the programs now being offered better known to our senior population, and, again hopefully, to raise the consciences of, and to bring a little more understanding into the lives of, those who have senior members in their families.

If I convince one daughter or son to contact Mom or Dad more often, if one new senior joins a nutrition site and makes new friends, if I help one older member of our community, I will have achieved my goal.

I benefited much by reading your letters and newspaper clippings. You are doing a job that needs to be done and I congratulate you. I may march to the tune of a different drummer, but our aspirations are the same — a better life for our deserving, endearing seniors.

At Wayne State University

'Freeman' will open Bonstelle season

The 1977-78 Bonstelle Theatre season will bring works by Shakespeare and Shaw, music and plays from Broadway, Off-Broadway and Trinidad to the Wayne State University stage.

The season opens Oct. 14 with Phillip Hayes Dean's modern tragedy "Freeman." The play was first produced with great success at New York's American Place Theatre and was described by Clive Barnes as "a fascinating play" by a playwright with "fire". This story of a young black man's uncompromising independence will be directed by Martin Molson, Wayne State's Black Theatre director. Evening performances are Oct. 14-15 and 21-22, and matinees on Oct. 16 and 23.

One of the rarely produced Shakespeare plays, "The Winter's Tale," will be presented evenings Nov. 25-26 and Dec. 2-3 with matinees Nov. 27 and Dec. 4. Called a comedy, but more truly a tragi-comedy, it is, like "Othello", a tale of jealousy, but with a happy ending. Robert Emmett McGill will direct.

The musical adaptation of Voltaire's "Candide" will follow. Directed here by Russell Smith and James Hohmeyer, "Candide" was produced on Broadway by the Chelsea Theatre Center of Brooklyn in conjunction with Harold Prince and Ruth Mitchell. The music is by Leonard Bernstein, book by Hugh Wheeler, lyrics by Richard Wilbur and additional lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and John Latouche. Performances will be evenings Jan. 27-28 and Feb. 3-4, and afternoons Jan. 29 and Feb. 5.

A play from Trinidad, Errol John's "Moon on a Rainbow Shawl," will be the season's second black play.A critic for the London Observer wrote that its "speech rhythms, snatches of calypso, hymn tunes, street cries convey a lyrical complexity of experience; it is nearer to O'Casey than anything else in our language." Martin Molson will direct. Performances are March 10-11 and 17-18 in the evening and matinees March 12 and 19.

"Arms and the Man," George Bernard Shaw's comedy, will be directed by N. Joseph Calarco and performed evenings April 28-29 and May 5-6 and afternoons April 30 and May 7. The first of Shaw's "Plays Pleasant" and the basis for the operetta "The Chocolate Soldier," it presents an anti-romantic view of war, but its satire is witty and lighthearted throughout.

Elmer Harris' Broadway, film and television success about a deaf-mute girl, "Johnny Belinda," is the final production of the series. Directed by Robert T. Hazzard, the production willl be presented in the Hilberry Theatre following the close of the Hilberry Graduate Repertory season. Because the Bonstelle Theatre is not air conditioned, the move is being made for the greater comfort of the audience. Performance dates are evenings June 2-3 and 9-10, and afternoons June 4 and 11.

Sunday matinee curtain time next season is being moved up to 2 p.m. Evening performances again will be at 8:30 p.m.

Two additional productions also will be part of the Wayne State University Theatre 1977-78 season.

The University's Black Theatre Touring Company's production of Phillip Hayes Dean's "The Sty of the Blind Pig" has been booked at the Hilberry Theatre Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 at 8:30 p.m.

"Ernest in Love" will be presented in the Studio Theatre (downstairs at the Hilberry) Oct. 18 through 23 as a benefit for the Blakely Scholarship Fund for theatre students. This musical was adapted by Anne Croswell and Lee Pockriss from Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest".

Brochures with complete information about both the Bonstelle and Hilberry seasons will be available later in the summer and may be requested by calling 577-2972 week days between 10 a.m. and 12 noon, or by writing Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, Detroit 48202.

Music Hall Center program entertaining to youth, adults

The Music Hall Center has come up with the entertainment lifesaver for parents and grandparents — a theater series that is aimed at youth, but because of the quality of the shows, will be equally enjoyed by adults. Anyone who has tried to find activities that would not bore or exhaust either the child or the parent will find Music Hall's first Young People's Series a real treasure.

The perfect introduction for children to the performing arts, these five Sunday afternoon attractions collectively present ballet, classical music, mime, comedy, drama, poetry, opera and modern dance. The shows include the Oakland Ballet's "Hansel and Gretel," Lotte Goslar's Pantomime Circus, The Paper Bag Players, Michigan Opera Theatre's production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," and finally, the fascinating Mummenschanz from Switzerland.

The series starts with the fabled witch and the gingerbread children of the Oakland Ballet's "Hansel and Gretel." This California production is the only full-length ballet of the popular fairy tale in the United States, and the 45-member company captures all of the suspense and drama. The musical score is taken from a number of classic composers including Rossini, Handel, Humperdinck and Grieg. "Hansel and Gretel" will be presented on Dec. 11.

"Amahl and the Night Visitors" is being created especially for Music Hall's Young People's Series by the Michigan Opera Theatre. This Christmas classic is considered one of Gian Carlo Menotti's finest works for the stage and is scheduled for Dec. 18.

The New York Daily News has said The Paper Bag Players are "the barometer of excellence in children's theatre". So universal is their appeal that creator Judith Martin has been able to tour them all over the world for more than 15 years.

As their name implies, the Players turn paper bags into crowns, cardboard into cows and cartons into buildings in their revue-like sketches. Humanistic values are the undercurrent of these sketches which touch on history, vacations, city living, school bullies, cooperation and dozens of other everyday situations. All of these are played against a background of bouncy music that sounds suspiciously like ragtime. Their Detroit performance is set for Jan. 15.

Summer—ideal in weather, ripe in accidents

Summer's here.

After the severe winter, people are turning outdoors in great numbers to enjoy the senuous pleasures of warm weather — water sports, camping, gardening, golfing and others.

But to the emergency physicians at hospitals in the area, it's a time to review first aid measures in preparation for the annual onslaught of summertime accidents.

As more people turn to camping, more join the endless flow to the emergency room with burns from camping lanterns and stoves. "Parents sometimes treat children's burns too lightly," one physician warned. "A burn over 10 percent of a child's body is much more ominous than in an adult."

Put ice on a burn, no matter how small, and take the person for emergency treatment. Wet dressings and intravenous fluids may be necessary, and a physician must make that determination.

Despite the heat, motorcyclists should wear heavy clothing to protect against concrete burns. Too often the cyclist wears a helmet and shorts. While his head is protected in case of a spill, he may suffer from tar ground into his raw flesh which is impossible to remove completely.

Parents should not buy their children bicycles with wide, up-curving handlebars which can puncture under or between their ribs in case of a fall. Wearing shoes while biking prevents children's bare toes from getting caught under the pedal, if the level of the riding surface rises suddenly.

People with allergy or asthma run the risk of allergic reaction to bee, wasp and hornet stings — a reaction which ranges from hives to occasional severe life-threatening reactions.

For people without allergies or asthma this simple first aid is usually sufficient:

(1) Apply ice to the sting, usually the only treatment needed.

(2) See a physician, immediately if you are allergy prone or have symptoms of shortness of breath, generalized swelling, wheezing, stomach pain, cramps, fainting or shock.

A gradual conditioning for warm weather activities is the best preventative. That means starting slow, playing tennis for a short period or mowing a small part of the lawn daily to train your body to cope as temperatures soar. Clothing light in weight and color helps, too. Simply stop before you feel too warm.

Heat stroke, if untreated, results in brain damage or probable death. Classic symptoms are lack of perspiration, extremely high fever (105 degrees) and a history of exertion and exposure to the heat.

Because heat stroke is a true medical emergency, the victim must be treated as quickly as possible. On the way to the emergency room, loosen or remove clothing, sponge the victim with water and massage arms and legs. Water may be given in small quantities.

Dry skin and high temperature are frequent signs of heat stroke, a failure of the body's heat elimination system. Dark, heavy clothing or rubber suits used by some to lose weight help bring on the condition by keeping heat close to the body.

If you're not sure the victim has heat stroke, it's best to give first aid as though he has, rather than not treat on the assumption that he or she may have an epileptic or other attack.

Heat cramps are the result of body loss of salt. Victims don't faint but have painful cramps which can be treated with salt capsules. Taking salt before exertion prevents cramps.

Heat exhaustion is the result of exertion in high temperatures and inadequate skin cooling is present. Unlike heat stroke, victims are sweaty and salt deficient.

Water and salt capsules prevent heat exhaustion. Treatment consists of rest and mildly salted fluids by mouth.

But because heat exhaustion symptoms may be similiar to stroke and cardiovascular problems in older persons, victims should be seen by a physician to distinguish symptoms.

The important first step in helping a drowning person is to act decisively and get the patient out of the water. Then make sure the airway is open by extending the person's tongue and turning the head to one side.

Don't waste time trying to get water out of the lungs. Start mouth to mouth or mouth to nose resuscitation immediately. Give oxygen, if available, and get the victim to an emergency facility quickly.

But make certain the airway is unobstructed. Sometimes persons having a heart attack while swimming regurgitate stomach contents, blocking the throat and causing death from lack of air rather than from water in the lungs. You may be able to remove upper airway obstruction with your fingers.

It's important to act fast in diving accidents, too. Spinal cord injuries are seen in the Emergency Room during the swimming season. Physicians advise rescuers to get victims out of the water quickly and place them on a rigid surface (a door or lashed planks) to transport them to emergency care. That surface, plus sandbags or firmly rolled clothing placed on each side of the head, may prevent severance of the spinal cord.

Because victims also may have water in their lungs, mouth to mouth breathing should be started.

The simplest precautions can prevent most cases of food poisoning. Keep foods very hot or very cold before eating, and chill all foods until cooking time. Refrigerate prepared foods promptly and never leave the picnic basket outside for a few hours while the family goes hiking.

Symptoms of food poisoning can occur any time within 24 hours after eating the spoiled foods. Severe vomiting, stomach cramps and diarrhea are key signs, although fatigue, dizziness, headache and difficulty in speaking and swallowing also may occur.

Be especially careful with milk, gravies, bread pudding, liver sausage, chicken, ham, bologna, cheddar cheese, Hollandaise sauce, evaporated milk and custards. Sandwiches and salads made with mayonnaise also are suspect.

One kind of food poisoning (botulism, caused by improperly canned foods) get progressively worse and leads to death unless skilled emergency care is begun. Other types can be fatal to the young and aged, so it is nothing to take lightly.

Promptly take the victim to an emergency center, where fluid balance will be restored and a determination made of the causative agent in case further treatment is necessary.

Only 344 deaths from insects and snakes have been recorded in the United States in nine years, but that's little comfort to a person who may have received a poisonous bite.

Michigan is fortunate to have only one poisonous snake, the Massassagua, a member of the rattlesnake family whose bite is not usually deadly. Like other poisonous snakes, the Massassagua injects its venom through fangs located on the front upper jaw, just below the nostrils. If you don't see fangs, you are looking at a non-poisonous snake. This is true worldwide.

Keep the bitten area cold, splint it with pillows or rolled up newspapers, keep the victim still and take him for emergency treatment promptly.

Poisonous snakebites are treated by chilling the bitten part, injections of antivenin and pain medication.

Have fun this summer...but use caution in the sun...be safe, not sorry!

While Studio Lounge rests

Westland Sports 'comes alive'

While Studio Lounge, the undefeated Westland Major Softball League leader was given an unscheduled rest because of rains, second-place Westland Sports rained runs on Pete & Johnnie's last week.

Scoring an incredible 14 times in the first inning, Westland Sports built up a 22-0 lead after two innings en route to a lopsided 33-5 victory.

It was Westland's ninth triumph in 10 starts, but they still trail arch-rivals, Studio Lounge, in the standings. Studio has swept all eight of its games thus far this season.

Seated a notch down from the Westlanders are three ambitious teams — Shoppe Around, Feister Oil and Shaklee's who are jammed in third place with 7-2 records.

Tim Abramski belted five hits, including two circuit clouts and drove in nine runs for the Westlanders against Pete & Johnnie's.

Teammate Bob Killingbeck also hammered out a pair of homers and collected a single and double. He was credited with five RBI's.

Dave Wyrabkiewicz checked in with six runs batted in thanks to a homer, a pair of doubles and a single while Vern Westerlund had five hits, four of those were singles.

Winning pitcher Tony Pilarski gave up a pair of doubles to John Ketelhut while Jim Juras drove home three runs on a double and single for the losers.

In other Major League action, Feister Oil rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh then held off Century 21 to win a close 18-16 decision.

Losing pitcher Jim Ciddy had his problems with Wally Wolf who drove in five runs and connected for four singles. Rob Carr and Tom Tresik split six hits — two singles and a double — and three RBI's between them.

Mark Koss got to winning pitcher Duke Beamisl for a couple of homers and a triple. He drove in four runs while Todd Brougaman laced a pair of singles and tripled for four RBI's while Bob Rayburn had three singles.

M & M Radio-TV took the powder out of the Bullets as they crushed their rivals 31-1 behind Ray Fox's nine-hit pitching performance. Loser Eric Rissman gave up 34 hits, five each to Dennis Deedler and Craig Barczuk who each had six RBI's.

John McKeever latched on to three doubles and a triple for five runs batted in while Fox contributed to his cause with a pair of singles, a double and a triple.

Shoppe Around didn't have to do any work to pick up its seventh win as they were awarded a victory by forfeit over Arcade Five which couldn't post a team at game time.

The King is back

Internationally-known Eddie Feigner, who has thrilled softball audiences across the globe, will bring his 4-man court to Westland Saturday to take on a group of All-Stars made up of the Westland Jaycees. The game will begin at 5 p.m., at Westland John Glenn High School field, on Marquette between Wayne and Newburgh.

Westland All-Stars face softball 'King'

In fact, Feignor has earned the unofficial title of "King" of the softball realm. His "team" consists of himself and three other players.

And the King and his men have taken on thousands in the course of the past two decades and usually wind up the winners. One of the reasons is that no one can hit this amazing pitcher.

Feigner, who has appeared on numerous TV shows and radio will bring his show to Westland on Saturday.

The "King and his Court" is scheduled to meet the Westland All-Stars in a game sponsored by the Westland Jaycees. The "showdown" will be held at 5 p.m., July 16 at Westland John Glenn High School diamond, Marguette between Wayne and Newburgh Rds.

Advance tickets are now on sale at the Westland Chamber of Commerce or by calling 326-9727 or 326-7222.

Advance tickets can be purchased for a family of five at $5 and adults tickets will cost $2.50. Student tickets are priced at $2. Tickets on the say of the event will be $3 and $2.50 for adults and students, respectively.

Down, J & D Auto gals stay alive in Wayne's title race

Once-defeated J & D Auto, hoping for an Extra Point Bar slip-up, kept its title hopes alive in the Wayne Women's Softball League last week by downing Jake's Lounge 11-3.

Extra Point has an untarnished 7-0 record and didn't play last week while its arch-rival, J & D, built up its record to 6-1. An Extra Point loss would create a two-way tie for first place.

J & D exploded for seven runs in the sixth inning to pull away from Jake's which has built up a 3-0 lead for four innings. Losing pitcher Kathy Vickers, who held J & D scoreless four innings, gave up four runs in the fifth.

Both teams had nine hits with Vickers connecting for a double. Teammates Cindy Kamraus picked up two hits and Diane Wagner belted a run-scoring double for the losers.

Beth Johnson missed hitting for the cycle as she drilled a single, double, triple and drove in three runs. Mate Carol Sotala had two hits while Cheryl Soltis and Audrey Gasdorf each laced homers.

Mary Porter was the winning pitcher.

Mac Tools jumped to a 7-0 lead in the first inning, then went on to whip the Local Merchants 15-10 to keep their slim hopes alive. It was Mac Tools' fifth win in seven starts.

Pat Thornsberry missed the cycle as she hammered three hits, but failed to get a homer. Her single, double and triple counted for three RBI's. Laura Day's circuit clout accounted for two runs while Brenda Schwatz' grand slam homer highlighted the winner's attack.

Pat Hartford and Gail Albright each checked in with three hits and Joyce Schwartz latched on to a single and double.

The Local Merchants turned in with three players with two hits each. Phyl Plenlacz, Linda Dillard and Sherry Klein split six singles between them, while Polly Spangler tripled.

A night at DRC

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Anything and everything can happen during a night at the races.

One didn't need the Marx Brothers — Groucho, Chico or Harpo — who happened to make the movie a classic — to provide the fun or laughter or excitement Friday night at DRC.

The elements, including Mother Nature, who whipped up a couple of tornadoes, did that.

You see, when the Willetts — David and Donna — who publish these newspapers — said they had never seen the inside of a harness or thoroughbred race track, we decided that it was time that they found out how the other half of the society lives.

EARL FLORA

With the ever-helpful hand of Earl Flora, the gregarious public relations dirrctor at DRC, the Willetts attended last Friday's harness session as guests of the Livonia-based track.

"It is indeed a unique experience," said Mr. Willett. "I really enjoyed it. It is a different kind of evening, to say the least."

Mrs. Willett said that one of the reasons why she didn't venture to the track before, "was I heard that one can get hooked on the sport."

"Not really," explained Flora. "One usually doesn't become addicted to gambling unless there are some very unusual circustances. But all of those circumstances are subjective."

With the advent of a daily lottery in Michigan and with stores getting sophisticated computors for that lottery, is off-track betting just around the corner?

"It would look that way," said Flora, "however, New York's experiment with off-track betting wasn't that successful at the beginning though it has recouped in recent years.

"If it does come, we would hope that the bettors who place off track bets would eventually decide to come to the track and see what the horses they bet on look like," Flora added.

Flora went on to point out that the Jeffries Freeway which meanders from East Detroit through Metropolitan Detroit and heads up along Schoolcraft should be a boost to DRC.

The Schoolcraft phase of the construction is nearly complete and hopefully will be opened later this year.

"We're hopeful that the new freeway will give the eastsiders a direct route to DRC," Flora said, "and, obviously that should generate more betting and more fans at the track."

Despite the funnel cloud that hovered over the track, and despite a constant downpour of rain, the races continued.

"These drivers and horses are conditioned to race in almost anything," Flora added. "In the many years I have been here I can't recall a race being cancelled because of the elements."

During the dialogue the ole sports editor was giving himself maximum exposure at the sellers and receiving only frustration in payoffs.

In fact, would you believe that even at our moment of victory — a horse one of our salesman "said was a sure thing" — I discovered that I had purchased the wrong ticket?

Try it, you'll like it.

Belleville hosts Ruth tournament

Seven teams will compete in the annual Babe Ruth District Tournament that will be hosted beginning Saturday by the Belleville-Van Buren Babe Ruth Organization.

All games will be played at Beck Stadium on Beck Rd., Ecorse and the service drive.

Among the teams entered are Saline American, Saline National, Ypsilanti, Jackson, Chelsea, Lansing and Belleville. The Nationals (Saline) drew a first round bye.

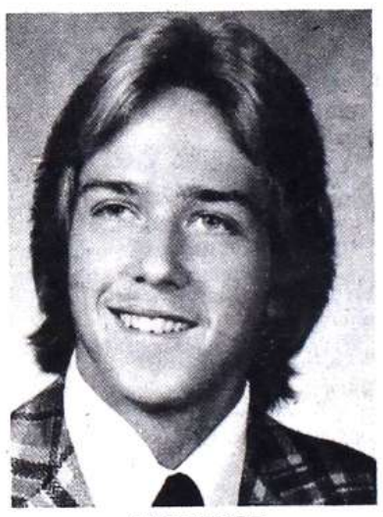
In that first round, Saline American and Ypsilanti will open up the series on Saturday at 10:30 a.m., then at 1 p.m., teams from Jackson and Chelsea will clash. The two winners will meet Sunday 10:30 a.m.

Belleville fans will get their first look at the local entry on Saturday when Belleville takes on Lansing at 4 p.m. The winner faces Saline Nationals at 1 p.m. on Sunday.

The cahmpionship game is scheduled for 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The Belleville district winner will advance to the regional tournament set for a week later.

Unold to attend MSU



TED UNOLD
Heading for MSU

Ted Unold, one of the top distance runners the area has produced in recent years, will continue his athletic career and education at Michigan State University.

Unold, who holds about every distance record at Westland John Glenn, signed a national letter of intent to attend MSU next fall.

"Ted had numerous full ride scholarship offers to several schools," said Ted's father, "but he chose MSU because of the Spartans' outstanding track and cross country programs. He also wanted to race against the top competition in the nation."

The 17-year-old Unold was a conference and regional track and cross country champ. He finished second in the state in the mile run after going undefeated in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Golf field is filling fast

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

As expected, more than half of the 1977 City Championship Golf Tournament field filled within a week.

Some 50 golfers have already mailed or sent in their entry applications and fees and, with the deadline set for July 20th to register, there isn't much time left.

The annual tournament will be held at Fellows' Creek, beginning 8 a.m., Saturday, July 23 and the championship round will be conducted on Sunday, July 24. (Tee times for the first round will appear in the Thurs., July 21 edition along with a set of rules.)

The tournament is co-sponsored by the five-participating parks and recreation departments: Westland, Wayne, Garden City, Inkster and Canton Township along with The Associated Newspapers.

All male amateur golfers are eligible to compete for the championships of their respective cities. The championships will be decided on the low score of 36 holes. Competitors will play 18 holes on Saturday and return Sunday for the final 18.

The top three finishers in each flight will be awarded trophies and additional flights will be organized only if the number of entries for the city warrants it.

There will also be a trophy for the medalist (low scorer) for the entire field.

To enter the tournament, please fill out the entry blank that accompanies the story. There is a $15.50 fee which covers cost of green's fees and trophies. Make checks payable to Tom Mooradian, sports editor.

Junior golfers, up to 18 years old, are eligible to compete in the local tournament but are ineligible to play in the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association's state tournament.

The top five golfers in each of the cities will qualify for the state MPRA tournament which will be held this year in Grand Rapids.

In case of a tie for a trophy, a "sudden death" playoff will decide the winner.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning, the ANP sports desk (729-4000) Sunday through Wednesday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. or on Friday at 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Golfers who have officially entered as of Fri., July 15 include: Joe Warren, 685 Easley; Bennie Poindexter, 30101 Hanover; Roland C. Doty, 1650 Regene St.; Kirk Grant, 32714 Benson; Murray Brooks, 33938 Beechnut; David A. Petrillo, 1547 Zorn and Richard Wheeler, 32458 Conway.

Shady Hollow holds tourney

Shady Hollow Golf Course will host the annual Dunlop Blue Max Golf Tournament on July 23.

Amateur golfers, ages 16 and up — male and female — are invited to compete in the tournament. Golfers should have an established handicap.

Prizes will be awarded for low net and low gross in both the men's and women's flights. The top three places will be presented with prizes.

Registration fee is $10 which includes green's fees.

The winners of the low net and gross — male and female flights — will be entered in the national drawing for a customized 1977 Blue Max Triumph TR 7. There are also six second place prizes of Maxfli Golf Clubs and 10 third place prizes of Dunlop golf bags.

The Shady Hollow Golf Course management said it will also award prizes but it has not determined at present what the awards will be.

Further information about the tournament may be obtained by telephoning 721-0430 and asking for Denise.

Oh, Johnny!

Westland gals post 9th victory

Striking for three runs in the first and second innings, undefeated Johnny's Shell crushed Lynn's Country Bar 13-6 for its ninth consecutive victory in the Westland Women's Softball League.

Though Johnny's is undefeated, it isn't however out of danger. Once-beaten Studio Lounge (9-1) is still in grasp of the league frontrunners.

Lynn's showed that it wasn't a pushover as the gals belted 14 hits off of winning pitcher Marie Fletcher who gave up two quick runs in the first inning.

However, a six-run Johnny Shell rally in the seventh inning convinced Lynn's that it wasn't going to mar the league leader's record.

Sue Chopp collected three hits off of Miss Fletcher who also had her problems with Dawn Lalonde who hammered out two homers and singled to account for four of the runs.

Miss Fletcher helped her cause with three singles and two RBI's off of loser Jan Anzalone who gave up a total of 19 hits, including homers to Karen Austin, who had three hits and four RBI's and Pat Girass, who missed hitting for the cycle when she failed to get a double.

Studio Lounge kept close on Johnny's heels as it exploded for 13 runs in the third inning and went on to bury Heads Together 22-1 in their final meeting of the season.

Maureen McIntosh missed a rare shutout when she gave up a run in the sixth inning after Tammy Mauno, who got two hits, belted a triple.

Jackie Randall paced Studio's attack against losing hurler Michelle Borg as she stroked five singles and batted in seven runs. Sharon Winkler and Maureen McIntosh split eight hits and four roundtrippers between them.

Sheryl Chourmick's three-hit pitching performance lifted VFW Bova to a 23-0 shutout over Westway Trucking. Bova collected a total of 20 hits, including four from Rhonda Dreher who picked up two singles and two triples for six RBI's. Teammate Becky Brown drilled a pair of singles, a double and homer and personally accounted for five runs driven in.

Crestwood Dodge won a 22-11 slugfest from Douglas' as Arlene Bozyk compiled three singles and a triple and also drove in five runs, while Joyce Dupont and Donna Reed split six hits and seven RBI's for the winners.

Bozyk, the winning pitcher, served up three singles and three RBI's to Robin Phrtasik and Barb Gibbs.

2 teams stay perfect in Romulus softball

Two teams continue to sport untarnished records in the Romulus Women's Softball Leagues.

Stringing together eight consecutive victories, the undefeated Young Pioneers have sole possession of first place in Class A and a two-game cushion over R. & R. Threadrolling (6-2).

Meanwhile, in Class B, Meadow Lanes-Ace has a comfortable two-game edge over Nemos (5-2). The frontrunners are 7-0 on the season.

In Class A action, the Young Pioneers edged the Spirit of 76, 3-1, in an abbreviated game called because of rains. The pacesetters also posted a 12-8 victory over their closest rivals, R & R Threadrolling.

The Pioneers sent Rose Thomas to the mound in both games and she received ample hitting support for Priscilla Gray and Rhonda Summers.

The Romulus Progressive Club was forced to go into extra innings before it managed to yank loose a close 7-6 victory over Threadrollers. In their second game, the Romulus Progressive team nipped Baum's 14-11. That game was highlighted by Donna Franklin's four runs batted in and homer. Teammate Sharon Houise tripled in a run.

Polka Dot Party Store came alive last week and humbled Tall-Oaks and Baum's.

Meanwhile, Meadow Lanes Ace unleashed an 18-run attack and stunned Nemos in a game called after four innings due to the "mercy rule." Donnie Hood suffered a broken ankle in the game.

Westlander Debbie Boyd is honored

Debbie Boyd, a 1967 graduate of John Glenn High School, was named Lansing's State Journal All-Area softball coach of the year.

Since graduating from Spring Arbor College in 1972, Boyd has taught physical education and coached various sports at DeWitt High School, DeWitt, Michigan.

Boyd's 21-5 season record was climaxed by capturing the 1977 Class C State Championship.

DeWitt stopped Niles Brandywine, 7-1, in a semifinal and beat Centerline St. Clement, 12-5, for the title.

The DeWitt Panthers were runners-up in the Capital Circuit this season, finishing fast just a game behind league champ Mason.

They won 13 of their last 14 games and of the five times they lost, three were by one run and another was by two. Boyd's career record now sparkles at a 49-13 mark (.790).

Debbie Boyd is the daughter of Alvin and Jean Boyd on Harvey Street in Westland.

Romulus gal golfer 2nd at Junior Open

Though she has been playing golf for only a year, Romulus' 15-year-old Kristie Kay Main displayed that she has the makings of an excellent golfer at the annual Women's Golf Association Junior Open Tournament.

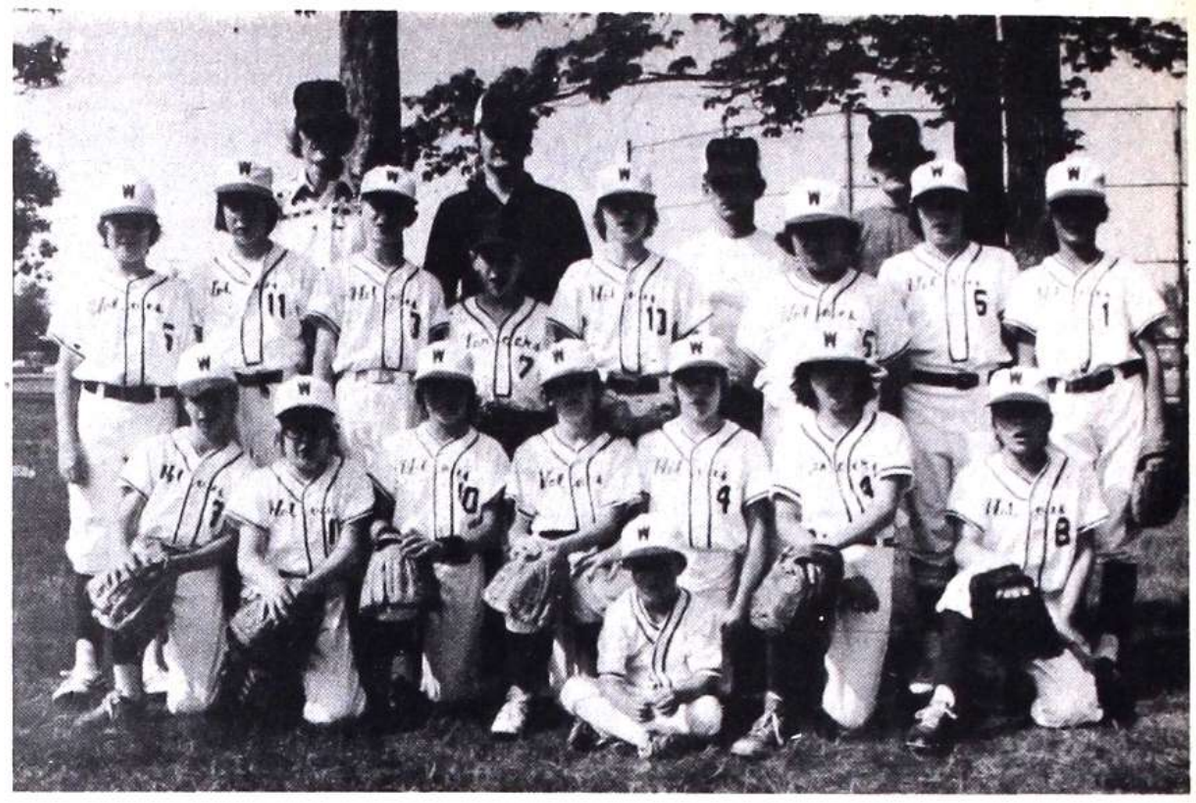
KRISTIE KAY MAIN

The tournament was held at Lake Geneva County Club in Lake Geneva, Wis. where a field of 88, ages 14 through 18 took part. The contestants were from all over the United States and Canada.

Miss Main, a student at Gabriel Richard High School in Riverview, qualified by shooting a 95. She won the first round of match play by three with two holes to play.

Miss Main was deadlocked with another competitors after 18 holes and was forced into a "sudden death" situation and lost the 19th hole by one stroke. She settled for a second place medal.

Miss Main carries a handicap of 15 and she plays or practices each day at Raisin River Country Club in Monroe. Her ambition, she says, "is to someday turn pro."



Minors with major baseball title

Dolphins start summer swim with impressive 12 1st places

By GEORGE WHITEHEAD
Special Correspondent

After roaring back from a slow start to capture 12 first places in 22 events and the first Summer-Winter Conference meet of the 1977 season last week, the Wayne Recreation Dolphin Swim Club will play host to four other conference teams Saturday at Attwood Pool, Howe and Annapolis, in a freestyle relay encounter.

Competition will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday at the 50-yard city of Wayne pool, which has been the Dolphins' summer home for five years. All events will be relays.

The Dolphins started slowly in a backstroke encounter last week at Crestwood High, taking a third and two seconds, but once the high-powered Wayne-Westland swim team put its water machine in high gear, it was tough to stop.

Wayne garnered 210 total points, while Crestwood had 186, followed by a tie between Lincoln Park and Cherry Hill, each with 110, and Allen Park with 58.

Mike Greuber, Keith Head, David Reynolds and Scott Winfrey began the Dolphin onslought in the fourth event—a 10-years-under backstroke relay—with the first of four straight Wayne first places. Coach Jim McPartlin's charges scattered victories throughout the next 11 events and capped the day by winning three of the last four tests.

Continuing the four-straight romp was the girls' 11-12-year backstroke relay team of Sandy Burns, Diane Brown, Mary Batterson and Kris Whitehead, who were in turn followed by the boys' 11-12-year backstroke team of Todd Melanshek, Doug White, Eric Head and Jeff Thompson. A girls' 13-14-year-old quartet of Cathy Batterson, Gretchen Batterson, Lori Miles and Deana Discher finished the surge.

After a second place in the eighth event, a girls' 15-18-year-old backstroke team of Jamie Thompson, Teri Discher, Kelly Batterson and Sandy Parker got the Dolphins back on the first-place kick-which was halted only by a disqualification and a touch-out in the next two events.

Keith Head, Jeff Eddy, Tim White and Mike Greuber added another first place in the boys' 10-under medley event, and, after another second, the Dolphins gained two straight victories. Eric Head, Jeff Thompson, Todd Melanshek and Mike Egan teamed in the boys' 12-under medley, while Cathy Batterson, Diane Brown, Gretchen Batterson and Lori Miles won the girls' 13-14-year medley.

Beginning the Dolphins' final surge of three wins in four events was the 10-under mixed freestyle relay team of Mike Greuber, Tim White, Sarah O'Kray and July Lutz, who were followed by Eric Head, Mike Egan, Mary Batterson and Sandy Burns in the 12-under mixed freestyle relay. Brian Hewitt, Kelly Batterson, Tim Goddard and Lori Miles combined for a mixed under-60-years relay to claim the final Wayne championship.

Greuber, Eric Head, Lori Miles and Kelly Batterson each were on three victorious relay teams and brought home three blue ribbons each, while 12 Dolphins captured two first-place ribbons each. They are Tim White, Keith Head, Todd Melanshek, Jeff Thompson, Mike Egan, Teri Discher, Sandy Parker, Sandy Burns, Diane Brown, Mary Batterson, Cathy Batterson and Gretchen Batterson.

Drake's looks like sure winner

League-leader has a 4-game edge over field

With an insurmountable four-game wedge between it and the rest of the field, Drake's Lounge is well on its way to the Second Division Class B men's softball title in Wayne.

Drake's pounded out 18 hits and a 11-4 victory over last place (1-12) NBA Lab for its 12 win in 13 starts. That victory pushed them four games up over second place Four Seasons (8-5).

A complete break-down by Drake's in the stretch is the only way that the runners-up can catch up.

Mike Plungis laced a homer, single and drove in three runs for Drake's and losing pitcher Dick Clark also gave up three hits to Gary Platukas, Gary Tilson and Joe Vergona.

Vergona, the winning pitcher, had his problems in the first inning when NBA scored two of its four runs. Clark wasted his three hit hitting performance while Tony Mardirosian and Larry Hannon also checked in with three hits apiece.

Four Seasons lost ground as it surrendered to the Knights of Columbus without a battle. The Knights compiled 20 hits off of losing pitcher Ron Rattray who was charged with the 20-3 setback.

The Knights put it away in the third inning, widening an 8-1 lead by seven runs.

Brendon Heany and Chuck Klein split eight hits and four RBI's between them while teammates Dave Gac and Johnny Bourke chipped in with three and two hits, respectively.

In the only other Second Division game, Unistrut hammered out 17 hits in a 12-6 victory over Johnson Carbonic. Unistrut leaped to a 6-0 lead after three innings and never looked back as winning pitcher Jeff Hogan scattered nine Johnson hits.

Al Simpson paced the winner's assault on loser Barth Bucciarri who served Simpson with four singles. Chuck Talaga carved out three hits and Mack Merritt included a triple and a pair of singles for his day's work while Doug McClare finished up with apair of safeties.

Meanwhile, over in Class C, the teams continue to chase Jac's Lounge which has a two-game edge over second place Jack Demmer Ford. Demmer's (10-3) is the only team in the field that can mathematically catch the frontrunners (12-2).

The Civitans broke a three-game losing streak at the expense of Teledyne Howell as the winners exploded for 11 runs in the first inning en route to a 14-8 victory over pitcher Ron Merrios.

Bill Millendorf and John Nibert each had three singles while Dick Clark belted a homer and two singles for the winners. Andy DeSager contributed three hits, including a double.

Glenn Wiper and Gary Stanford each had three hits and Jerry Freer collected two for the loser.

Tastee Freeze unleashed an awesome 31-hit attack to bury Ernie's Towing 33-7 in the only other Over 30 game.

The winners drilled five homers, four of them in the sixth inning when they scored 13 times. Roger Sanford accounted for two of those round-trippers while Roger Unch and John Gorney turned in with one each.

Ken Roberts and Dick Dargo each had three hits off of losing pitcher Kennedy. Kennedy, Ed Kempitstz and Bob Harden led the loser's offense. Harden finished with three hits, including two triples and two RBI's.

Jac's Lounge struck for five runs in the first inning, three more in the second and exploded for six in the seventh to rout Woolf's 16-9 in their final appearance against one another this season in Class C.

Jac's took the lead thanks to a two-run single by John McAllister. Then, a two-run homer by Bob Wood and a three-run blast by Ken Sheldon, his second of the game, sealed Woof's fate.

Winning pitcher Bill Coleman scattered eight hits, three of those to Bob Baker who homered and belted two singles for four runs batted in, Mark Murlow had two singles.

Though outhit 11-8 by Cobb Pharmacy, Annapolis Hospital emerged atop of a 10-8 count in other Class C games. Annapolis took the lead in the sixth on a three-run homer by Bill Miller.

Annapolis also received two hits apiece from Jerry Luster and Arley Downer.

Ernie Righetti paced Cobbs' assault with a homer and single while teammates Jay Bell and Ray Turber each had two hits. Donald Rohn wound up as the losing pitcher.

Demmer's kept its slim hopes alive as it parlayed 12 hits and a four-run third inning into a close 5-4 victory over last place Massey Ferguson.

Massey made the winner's sweat when it scored four times in the bottom of the fifth.

Henry McKay, the losing pitcher, gave up two hits each to Dale Gilbert, Jim Bonham, Gary Dymski and Larry Coffin who drove in two runs with a triple and single.

Massey's Mike Cordts drilled a two-run homer in that fifth inning four run rally and Bob Maden also tripled off of Coffin who was the winning pitcher.

Showdown in Wayne 'B' softball

Burghuff's Bar can wrap up the 1977 Wayne Class B men's softball championship if it convinces Fiddle Bar to forget about the title this year.

The two teams were to meet Tuesday night in a showdown, of sorts. Burghuff has a two-game lead over the second place Fiddle Bar and a victory for the league-leaders would put them out of reach.

However, if Fiddle Bar can pull an upset, its title hopes will stay alive.

Meanwhile, Burghuff's came-from-behind to edge Club Canton 5-3 to maintain its hold on first place. Canton took a 3-0 lead after two innings before Burghuff decided it was time to play.

Scoring one run in each of the third and fourth innings, Burghuff went ahead with a two-run fifth inning spurt and got an insurance run in the sixth inning.

Denny Rogowski drilled two doubles and collected two runs batted in while Dave Conlin singled and doubled. Teammate Dean Minton belted two singles for the winners.

Losing pitcher Del St. Antoine gave up nine hits and his mates provided him with five, one each by Marty Waytovich, Gerry Gesch and Gerry Genish.

Michigan Bell needed a two-run last of the seventh rally to shake loose from Long's Service Center to win a 17-15 slugfest. Scoring nine times for the first two innings, Michigan Bell saw its 9-4 lead dissipate when Long's tallied seven runs in the third then added four more in the fourth.

However, Michigan Bell tied it up in the sixth with a six-run spree.

Winning pitcher Rick Fontaine served up 13 hits, including three homers — one apiece to Pat Marschionda, John McCollum and Dick Martin who had three hits for the evening and two RBI's. Don Farmer also checked in with two hits.

McCollum, the losing hurler, had his problems as the winners amassed 24 hits off of him. Terry Hoffman, however, was the only Michigan Bell batter who clubbed a homer and he also had two singles.

Dan Demara, Ed Pier each had two hits while Dan Garrett wound up with three safeties, including a two-run triple.

McMurray's builds 4-game 'A' lead

Leaving the rest of the field behind in that proverbial cloud of dust, undefeated McMurray Insurance chalked up two more victories last week to stretch its winning streak to 11 in the Canton Township Class A softball standings.

McMurray's, the only Class A softball champ in the recreation department's history, built up a four-game wedge between it and its closest challenger, Don Massey Cadillac.

The league-frontrunners are 11-0 as compared to Massey's 7-4 won-lost ratio.

McMurray picked up its tenth and eleventh victories of the season during the week as the insurance men defeated Clark Block 6-1 in eight innings and edged Don Massey 4-3.

The game was a pitcher's duel between McMurray's Jack Hirshauer and Clark Block's Nick Faber. Scoreless for seven innings, McMurray erupted for six runs in the top of the eighth to register the victory.

Second baseman Rick Martinez delivered a key blow for McMurray which accounted for the first run of the ball game. Martinez went two for three for the afternoon while Roscoe Nash drove in the winning run for the winners.

Don Massey and McMurray dual was another low-scoring contest with McMurray getting two runs in the sixth and seventh innings which were the difference.

Martinez and Nash were the hitting stars for McMurray again, with two hits respectively.

Don Gulleckson and Jack Warner led the Massey attack. Gulleckson had a triple, good for two RBI's. Warner had two hits in two at bats. Mike Eves was the winning pitcher for McMurray.

Don Massey picked up a victory by beating George Smith Realty 8-2 as Massey scored six runs in the first inning on seven hits to ice it.

Tom Battistone had a perfect day at the plate with a three for three performance, which included a triple and a double.

Jim Rafalski also had a good day as he clubbed two hits and two runs.

Jack Warner lashed out one hit and had two sacrifice flies that accounted for four RBI's. Smith's attack was led by Larry Lompro and Bill Bufe, who each chipped in with two hits. Winning pitcher for Massey was Pat Byrnes.

Metro handcuffs Canton police, 19-2

Showing no signs of withering in the heat or the chase for the Canton Class C softball title, Metro Nuts & Bolts remained a close second to league-leading Ovidon as it handcuffed the Canton Police, 19-2 last week.

Led by right centerfielder Ray Block who hammered a homer and a pair of singles, Metro unleashed a balanced hitting attack to humble the men in blue.

Mark Venchelou had two hits, a double, and a single for the winners. Tim Manna and Ron Anticar, of the Canton Police, chipped in with two hits apiece against Sam Maci, the winning pitcher.

Huffman's Roofing picked up its seventh victory of the season by defeating Geneva Church 19-11 as Dave Monte Clouted a home run and two singles that were good for four RBI's.

Ray Neehy and Ken Steiner counted three hits for Huffman's.

Geneva's runs were produced by the power hitting of John Roessler who had three hits, including a home-run and double.

League leading Ovidon edged Centry Farms — Amroy Canton 9-6 as it exploded for five runs in the fifth inning to assure the victory.

Chad McDonald blasted a three run home-run.

Wayne 'E's' too close to call

Though the Bears, Lions and Rams have vacated first place, it's still too close to call in Wayne's Class E baseball title race.

The Beavers held on to their share of first place by edging the Rams 6-5, while the Wolverines remained on top with an easy 13-3 victory over the Colts.

The co-leaders are 4-2 on the year, but the three next teams - Bears, Lions and Rams all remain in contention thanks to 3-3 records.

Larry Reid stopped the Rams in relief of starter Tom Thompson who hurled the first four innings, gave up three runs on no hits while he fanned eight and walked six.

Reid survived a five-hit Rams' assault and also scored what proved to be the winning run in the bottom of the seventh when the Beavers broke a 5-all tie in their favor.

Ahead 1-0 after two innings, the Beavers fell behind when the Rams rallied for three runs in the third. However, the Beavers equalled that output in their third but saw their lead wilt when the Rams came back with one run in the fifth and their last tally in the seventh.

Mel Rumple scored three of the six Beaver runs while Reid had two hits and Eric Turnbull collected a two-run single.

Chuck Erickson, who worked four innings, and Bob Kost, who finished up and was the loser got the pitching assignment for the Rams.

Kost connected for a triple and single and also scored three times while Rich Peters, Bob Nutt and Terry Stevens each latched on to two hits.

Meanwhile, Jeff Lambert's six-hit pitching performance lifted the Wolverines to an easy 13-3 victory over the Colts. Jeff Jones led the winner's assault on two Colt hurlers as he turned in with three singles and a triple and accounted for six RBI's.

Lambert drilled a triple while Don Swanson connected for a double and Russ Coleman and Kevin Frasher each had run-scoring singles for the winners.

The Days are long and lonely,
The nights are dreary too,
Many times we've said, if only
we had another hour with you.
Days may come and go
And life goes on, it's true,
But on your journey, please go slow,
For soon we'll be there with you.

How Many Jobs These Days Offer a $1500-$2500 Cash Bonus?

If you check with your Army Representative you'll find many challenging jobs. With a 4-year enlistment, the bonuses range from $1500-$2500. And most of the jobs are open to women. Not everyone gets these jobs. You must qualify for them. If you do, you'll be paid the bonus in a lump sum when you complete your training. (In most cases 16 weeks.) The jobs are demanding. But the rewards are great. Here are some of the jobs:

Construction Machinery Operator
Missile Crewman
Missile Repairman
Electronic Repairman
Electrical Instrument Repairman
Radio Teletype Operator
Map Draftsman
Radar Crewman
Radar Mechanic
Radio Mechanic
Electronic Technician
Telephone Repairman
Tank Mechanic
Electrical Plant Operator
Inventory Clerk

WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU TO BE IN A . . . SELLERS' MARKET

ED FREEH, JR.
Sales Manager

The term "seller's market" means simply that there are more people seeking homes than there are homes currently for sale on the market.
What this means to you, the seller, is that things are going your way toward a prompt and totally satisfying sale of your home.
Garlings Realtors has a list of eager home buyers waiting for the opportunity to inspect your home. Call us today. . . and let us go to work on the sale of your home tomorrow.

HOW TO SELECT A CANTALOUPE

Cantaloupe is fleshy and sweet, a treat that looks and tastes marvelous, is rich and filling but not fattening. The average serving of cantaloupe, (one half of a melon measuring about five inches in diameter) contributes 100 percent of the adult daily requirement of vitamin C. With all these benefits, and just 37 calories to a serving, cantaloupe is really a friend.

LOOK FOR: cantaloupe that is well-webbed, well-formed, with a smoothly rounded depression at the stem end. This is called a "full slip" because the stem has come off easily and completely when given a slight lift by the picker, meaning that the melon was fully mature. Cantaloupes range in size from #23 (the largest) to #45 (the smallest) and are graded by color, shape, maturity and freedom from defects.

AT HOME: let cantaloupes ripen at room temperature. They're ready to eat when they feel springy under slight pressure and have an inviting, distinctive aroma. Mature melons should stand for two or three days at home until they pass the ripeness test. When the cantaloupe is ready, halve it, remove the stringy center and seeds with a spoon and enjoy your melon the way you like it best.
